Rhee Urges UN Offensive at Once

Two Children Die; Lake School Closed

Greenwood Lake, Dec. 2 (AP) — The 160-pupil elementary school here has been closed after the deaths of two children Saturday in this Orange county community from an illness also affecting five others.

Dr. John Degen, state district health officer, described the illness as a type of croup, with symptoms resembling those of a common cold.

Authorities at Warwick Hospital said a full report has been sent to the state board of health at Albany. They said a diagnosis is being withheld pending the board's opinion.

Korean President Dissatisfied at India's Plan for Truce

Seoul, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today demanded an immediate all-out offensive to drive Chinese Reds out of North Korea.

The South Korean leader declared "we can do so now," without the help of Japanese or Chinese Nationalist troops. And he indicated he didn't think the move would draw Russia into the conflict because the Soviet Union is not ready for a world war.

Rhee said if the Soviet Union had wanted to enter the Korean war it would have done so when allied troops drove to the Yalu river in 1950.

"No world war can be avoided unless the leaders in the Kremlin are persuaded or are forced to believe they cannot conquer the United States," he declared.

Outlines His Views

Rhee outlined his views at a press conference and in an interview with a National Broadcasting Co. newsman.

He asserted the Panmunjom armistice talks have failed and the latest Indian truce proposal in the UN is not acceptable.

Rhee said he thought the only reason a drive to the Yalu had not been launched was because of a belief it "was not politically wise at this time."

'Cannot Be Patient'

But, he added, "we cannot be patient or be quiet. Either we succeed in driving out communism or we will all be killed. Regardless of win or lose, we cannot stay and let them come and shoot at us all the time."

Rhee did not flatly say he would make such a recommendation to U. S. President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower on his visit to Korea.

"I think he is looking for facts rather than for recommendations. I want him to see what the situation really is, and I believe he will decide for himself."

Wide Area Gets Snow; Expected To End Tomorrow

Fall Extends Upward From Virginia and Bogs Traffic Generally

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Winter came to the northeast today.

Snow fell in wide areas north and east from the Virginia mountains, slicking roads and causing traffic inconveniences.

In the New York Metropolitan area sanding and cinder trucks went into action soon after the snow began falling at 7:30 a. m. (EST). Airlines reported slight delays in schedules. Harbor shipping nosed cautiously through the swirling sheets.

The snowfall was expected to blanket all of New York state before tapering off tomorrow. Upstate temperatures dropped to 10 degrees last night and were expected to be in the 20s and low 30s throughout the state tonight.

Traffic Moves Carefully

In New Jersey traffic moved carefully. The New Jersey turnpike ordered all traffic slowed to 35 miles per hour instead of the normal 60 M.P.H. speed limit. The 118-mile highway was open all the way, as were most roads in the state.

By midmorning two inches had fallen on Washington, D. C., with more in prospect.

Roads were slippery in Maryland where only essential driving was recommended.

Driving was dangerous in many sections of West Virginia, particularly in the mountains. Snow of one to six inches in depth blanketed most of the state.

Second in Three Days

In was the second snowstorm in three days for Pennsylvania. Some mountain areas reported as much as five inches. Nearly everywhere in the state highway conditions were hazardous, especially where the new snowfall covered ice patches from the earlier storm.

The snow was expected to hit New England later in the day and possibly change to rain and sleet tonight.

The only northeastern state reporting sunshine was Maine. Temperatures were near zero in some communities but the skies were clear.

Coat Saves Girl's Life

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 2 (AP)—Sharon Sue Morse's coat probably saved her life yesterday. The four-year-old girl fell out of the family car just as her mother, Mrs. Howard C. Morse, was passing another car, but her coat caught on a door handle of the other car. When the coat gave way, she fell clear of the wheels of both cars. The child was taken to Memorial Hospital with head injuries, right arm fractures and a broken collar bone.

Protest Is Lodged

Tel Aviv, Israel, Dec. 2 (AP)—The foreign office has lodged a verbal protest with the U. S. embassy here contending American jet planes crossed over the Israel section of Jerusalem yesterday without permission. An Israeli army spokesman today reiterated a warning that any foreign plane flying over Israel territory without permission "might be fired on."

Priest Asks Drive Against Indecency

Books, Magazines Would Be Put Under 'Czar' as in Baseball

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest today urged Congress and the nation's publishers to join forces in a campaign to drive indecent periodicals from the newsstands.

Appearing before a special House committee investigating obscene and gruesome literature, the Rev. Thomas J. Fitzgerald of Chicago called for:

1. Enactment of federal laws to bar transportation of obscene matter across state lines.

Only those who send obscene material through the mails now are subject to arrest and prosecution.

2. Establishment by the industry of a board to pass on the decency of publications.

Should Have Board

"You have a czar in professional baseball," said Father Fitzgerald. "Why shouldn't you have some sort of reviewing board in this field to protect the honest publishers?"

The priest went to the witness chair after Rep. Kearns (R.-Pa.), a committee member, told reporters he believes the sale of obscene and gruesome literature is "out of control" and that the government should do something about it.

Father Fitzgerald agreed. He said the damage caused by objectionable literature "to the souls of our children and our young men and women is of eternal proportions."

The priest has been in charge of reviewing publications for the National Organization for Decent Literature (NODL), which publishes monthly a list of magazines, pocket-sized and comic books which it finds objectionable.

U. S. Ace Gets His Seventh Aircraft; Snow Covers Front

Seoul, Dec. 2 (AP)—An American jet ace, returned to Korea after six weeks in the U. S., shot down a Communist MIG-15 today in an air battle deep in North Korea, the Fifth Air Force announced.

Lt. James F. Low Sausalito, Calif., bagged the MIG in a clash between two U. S. F-86 Sabre jets and two MIGs. It was his seventh kill of the war.

The air force also confirmed two MIG kills of last Wednesday.

On the ground, allied and Red infantrymen sparred in snow and biting cold.

A foot of snow blanketed towering central peaks. It piled two to six inches deep along the 155-mile battleline.

The mercury hovered near zero (F).

Snow clouds hampered allied raids over North Korea.

Forts Plaster Supplies

However, allied superforts plastered a sprawling Communist troop encampment and supply center. Probing deep into North Korea, 13 B-29s unloaded 500-pound bombs on a troop area west of Honsan, a supply area west of Yangdok and on Red front line positions.

South Korean soldiers hurled back repeated Chinese attacks in

Education Department Says Only New York Board Reports

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—New York City's Board of Education is the only one in the state to report so far that it suspects some of its teachers are subversive, the state education department says.

Yesterday was the deadline, under the state's Feinberg Law, for local public school officials to inform the department whether they had discovered any subversive teachers, and if so, what they had done about them.

However, the department noted last Oct. 9 that some boards might find it difficult to comply with the deadline, and urged boards to file their reports as soon after Dec. 1 as possible.

About 1,650 of the state's 2,789 individual school districts have submitted reports, a department spokesman said yesterday. He said all boards were expected to have made their reports by Jan. 1.

The spokesman said statements had been received from 32 of the state's 62 cities and 63 of the state's 101 village school boards.

Cities have not reported include Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo and Utica.

The New York City Board of Education told the department Nov. 17 that 69 of its employes had been questioned during the last year about possible membership in the Communist party.

The board also said it was investigating 193 other employes.

The Feinberg Law requires the Board of Regents and local boards to move against teachers or other school employes who are found to be members of subversive groups.

Although the law was enacted in 1949, its enforcement was delayed until last March, when the U. S. Supreme Court ruled it was constitutional.

The law requires the Regents to conduct hearings and draw up a list of organizations it considers subversive. Members of these groups then would be banned from employment in the public school system.

A hearing involving possible classification of the Communist party as subversive is scheduled for Thursday in New York City.

A finding against the party would be likely to touch off a court battle that could delay further the enforcement of the Feinberg Law.

Durkin and Weeks Complete Cabinet

Durkin Sees Future Accord for All in His Department of Labor

All Must Prosper, Weeks Says, for Complete Success

Industrialist Declares Business Must Be in 'Favorable Climate'

Boston, Dec. 2 (AP) — Sinclair Weeks, Boston industrialist named by President-elect Eisenhower to be secretary of commerce, said today he hopes his experience in business will help him "make the new administration the success it is bound to be."

He will bring to the cabinet a wide experience in business and politics and, he says, this philosophy:

"If business is good and there is a high degree of activity in commercial and industrial fields, everyone is well off correspondingly.

"To get such a situation there has to be a favorable business climate—not a socialistic climate—and if such a climate is developed in such a manner that business can go ahead and the great inventive genius of our people can create new products and new methods, then everyone is going to benefit."

'All Have Objectives'

He maintained also that "ownership, business and labor all have objectives, but no one of these can prosper without the other two prospering as well."

The 59-year-old Weeks is chairman of the Republican National Committee's finance committee and lists connections with numerous business concerns.

He is chairman of the board of the United-Carr Fastener Corp., Cambridge, and the Reed and Barton Corp., a silverware concern of Taunton, Mass.

He is also a director of Atlas Plywood, First National Bank of Boston, Pacific Mills, Gillette Safety Razor Co., Wentworth Institute, the Pullman Co., and Rand Avery-Gordon Taylor, Inc.

To Quit Post

He told reporters shortly after he was named late yesterday that he would quit the GOP committee post and "sever every business connection I have as soon as I take office."

As a cabinet member he will have followed in the footsteps of his father, the late John W. Weeks, secretary of war under Warren G. Harding.

Weeks was an early backer of Eisenhower and just before the GOP convention last July urged Sen. Robert A. Taft to perform a "supreme act of self-denial" and quit the presidential race in favor of the general.

He is credited with raising one million dollars for the GOP campaign even before the convention got under way.

Advice Is Sought

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—A congressional committee disturbed over gaping loopholes in spending restrictions of the present election laws sought the advice today of the men who will be postmaster general in the Eisenhower cabinet. The committee, a special House group headed by Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.), wants suggestions from Arthur Summerfield, chairman of the Republican National Committee, on how best to adapt present antiquated election laws to today's high-cost and high-powered political campaigns. Tomorrow the committee plans to question Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The position of the treasury Nov. 28: Net budget receipts, $111,246,265.53; budget expenditures, $543,330,893.60, cash balance, $7,635,969,514.20; customs receipts for month $43,804,964.50; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $21,201,323,465.61; budget expenditures fiscal year $29,373,196,327.11; budget deficit $8,171,872,861.50; total debt, $267,482,827,350.79; increase over previous day, $174,659,571.27; gold assets, $23,337,200,261.88.

T-H Law Alteration Viewed as Vital to Peace in Business

Washington, Dec 2 (AP) — The man named by President-elect Eisenhower to be secretary of labor believes the Labor Department will be strengthened and the Taft-Hartley Act amended in a way satisfactory to both the unions and management.

Martin P. Durkin, 58, president of the AFL Plumbers Union, will be the only Catholic and the only Democrat in the Eisenhower cabinet. His appointment to be secretary of labor was announced by Eisenhower's Headquarters yesterday.

Though the policy of the AFL and of his union calls for repeal of Taft-Hartley, Durkin told newsmen he is convinced the law can be "amended to satisfy labor . . . and no doubt, to satisfy management as well."

Amendment, rather than outright repeal of the nation's labor law was Eisenhower's campaign pledge.

Durkin said he was "greatly surprised" at his appointment because he voted for Adlai E. Stevenson in November and helped put over the AFL's official endorsement of the Democratic nominee.

Sees Eisenhower Considerate

But he told reporters:

"I think President-elect Eisenhower will give full and complete consideration to the problems of labor."

Eisenhower's decision to pick his man from union ranks could prove to be either a noteworthy political stroke or a new source of friction between AFL and CIO.

President Truman and the late Franklin D. Roosevelt went outside labor for the secretaries. When filling non-cabinet jobs they generally tried to find men from independent unions, or else paired

Kingston Representatives Have Known Appointee for 10 Years

The announcement that Martin P. Durkin, head of the AFL Plumbers' Union, has been named Secretary of Labor in the Eisenhower cabinet is drawing favorable comment in local labor circles, George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent for the Kingston Metal Trades Council and other AFL unions, said today.

Taft Is Sore Because Ike Chose Durkin

Cincinnati, Dec. 2 (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft today called the selection of Martin Durkin, a Democrat, as secretary of labor "an incredible appointment" by President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sen. Taft, who campaigned for Eisenhower after losing the GOP nomination to him, said in a prepared statement:

"The appointment of Mr. Durkin is an incredible appointment. This is no reflection on the character or ability of Mr. Durkin. I had a number of talks with Herbert Brownell who has been the key man in cabinet appointments, and made several recommendations of qualified men.

"It was never even suggested that a man would be appointed who has always been a partisan Truman Democrat, who fought General Eisenhower's election, and advocated the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

'Affront,' He Says

"It is an affront to millions of union members and officers who had the courage to defy the edict of officials like Mr. Durkin that they vote for Stevenson. This appointment leaves without representation in the cabinet those millions of Democrats, north and south, who left the party to support General Eisenhower, and gives representation to their most bitter opponents."

The statement immediately brought to question Taft's future political relationship with Gen. Eisenhower.

None of His Men

Only a few days ago, Taft remarked that the general's choice for cabinet posts had not included anyone he had recommended.

The senator had gone all out for Eisenhower's election after his own defeat in the GOP convention, making speeches in many states.

One of the things the Republicans fought during the campaign was the declaration by President Truman and others that Eisenhower was more or less under control of Taft.

Democrat Is Chosen for Labor Dept.

Boston Republican Gets Post as Secretary of Commerce, Ike Aide Announces

CIO Is Silent

No Official Comment Made by Rival Union at Atlantic City

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Eisenhower cabinet was complete today with the selection of AFL leader Martin P. Durkin of Chicago as secretary of labor and Sinclair Weeks, a Boston business man and Republican official, as secretary of commerce.

President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's choice of Durkin, a Democrat who voted for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, came as a surprise yesterday.

Durkin, the only Democrat on the new cabinet list, is the first person ever to be taken directly from a labor union office for the secretary of labor post. Some previous secretaries had been in the labor movement before appointment.

Durkin, 58, is general president of the AFL United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the plumbing and pipe-fitting industry of the United States and Canada.

Is Finance Chairman

Weeks, 59, is chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee. He is an industrialist and bank director and has been a power in the Massachusetts GOP for nearly 20 years and in the national GOP organization since 1940.

The designations of Durkin and Weeks were announced by Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., who will be Eisenhower's White House secretary.

Vandenberg also announced the designation of Walter Williams of Seattle as under secretary of commerce. He was chairman of the National Citizens for Eisenhower.

Official CIO comment on Durkin's selection was refused at Atlantic City, N. J., where the national CIO convention is in session. Some CIO leaders said privately they were disappointed that an AFL man rather than a CIO man was picked.

Getting Along Seen

The CIO leaders took the selection of a labor man as an indication that the Eisenhower administration wants to get along with organized labor.

The naming of Durkin was hailed by George Meany, recently elected president of the AFL. Calling Durkin an "outstanding trade unionist," Meany said in a statement:

"He is ideally fitted by training, experience, ability and temperament for his new post. Mr. Durkin's appointment will inspire confidence among the ranks of organized labor in the expressed desire and determination of President-elect Eisenhower to be fair to the nation's workers."

Cabinet Formation

The complete cabinet lineup now stands this way:

Defense—Charles E. Wilson, Detroit; State—John Foster Dulles, New York; Treasury—George M. Humphrey, Cleveland; Agriculture—Ezra Taft Benson, Salt Lake City; Interior—Gov. Douglas McKay, Oregon; Labor—Martin P. Durkin, Chicago; Commerce—Sinclair Weeks, Boston; Attorney General—Herbert Brownell, Jr., New York; Postmaster General—Arthur E. Summerfield, Flint, Mich.

Weeks, one of Eisenhower's earliest backers in the pre-convention campaign, is board chairman of two Massachusetts business firms, a director of three others and of the First National Bank of Boston.

Durkin served from 1933 to 1941 as Illinois state director of labor, serving under Governors Henry Horner, John Stelle and Dwight Green.

He has been president of the AFL union since 1943 after serving two years as its secretary-treasurer.

Voted for Adlai

Durkin said after his selection was announced:

"I not only voted for Stevenson, but I supported the American Federation of Labor in endorsing

U. S. Has Trouble With Red Propaganda in Our Mails

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Post Office Department said today it hasn't yet found any sure way to keep Chinese Communist propaganda out of the U. S. mails—but is still trying.

The department renewed an appeal to the general public, originally made several weeks ago, to turn in to local postmasters all such material which the postman may deliver.

Officials pointed out that, in the absence of any form of censorship in this country, mailings under sealed covers are not subject to postal inspection, so the department has to depend upon the voluntary cooperation of those receiving propaganda items.

In making these statements, the department said it had just transmitted its thanks to Bert Teeters, editor of the Springfield (O.) News, for sending in some samples of Red propaganda on the Korean War which came into his hands

These included a booklet titled "Shall Brothers Be * * *?" published by a group called "Chinese Brothers' Committee for World Peace and Against American Aggression," headquartered at Peiping, the Red China capital. It was mailed to the United States from Berlin, and noted that other similar material was available in Czechoslovakia.

The contents included purported letters signed by United Nations prisoners of war, praising Communist treatment.

The Post Office Department said the material was clearly unmailable, because it involved distribution of foreign political propaganda by persons not registered under the Foreign Agents' Registration Act.

The Chinese Communist propaganda mailings into this country have taken a number of forms, including solicitations of funds from the next of kin of war prisoners and from Chinese-Americans with relatives in China. Most of this material gets in from behind the Iron Curtain in Europe.

Total Appropriations $4,504,055; Income Estimated at $2,882,536

A public hearing on the tentative budget for county operation during the fiscal year of 1953, will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the supervisors room in the court house. The board will meet that evening and probably adopt the annual budget.

The total appropriations of all funds, excluding inter-fund items, for 1953 are $4,504,055.80. Estimated revenues, appropriated cash surplus and appropriated reserves in all funds is $2,882,536.93, leaving a net of $1,621,518.87 to be raised by local tax levy.

The 1952 gross budget was $4,449,714.40, $54,341.40 less than the gross budget for the coming year but the total estimated revenues, surplus and reserve was only $2,579,201.30, or about $300,000 less than it is estimated it will be on January 1, 1953, and consequently the net budget last year was higher and it was required that $1,875,873.10 be raised by local tax. In 1953 there will be raised by local tax $254,354.23 less than last year.

Education Department Says Only New York Board Reports

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—New York City's Board of Education is the only one in the state to report so far that it suspects some of its teachers are subversive, the state education department says.

Yesterday was the deadline, under the state's Feinberg Law, for local public school officials to inform the department whether they had discovered any subversive teachers, and if so, what they had done about them.

However, the department noted last Oct. 9 that some boards might find it difficult to comply with the deadline, and urged boards to file their reports as soon after Dec. 1 as possible.

About 1,650 of the state's 2,789 individual school districts have submitted reports, a department spokesman said yesterday. He said all boards were expected to have made their reports by Jan. 1.

The spokesman said statements had been received from 32 of the state's 62 cities and 63 of the state's 101 village school boards.

Cities have not reported include Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo and Utica.

The New York City Board of Education told the department Nov. 17 that 69 of its employes had been questioned during the last year about possible membership in the Communist party.

The board also said it was investigating 193 other employes.

The Feinberg Law requires the Board of Regents and local boards to move against teachers or other school employes who are found to be members of subversive groups.

Although the law was enacted in 1949, its enforcement was delayed until last March, when the U. S. Supreme Court ruled it was constitutional.

The law requires the Regents to conduct hearings and draw up a list of organizations it considers subversive. Members of these groups then would be banned from employment in the public school system.

A hearing involving possible classification of the Communist party as subversive is scheduled for Thursday in New York City.

A finding against the party would be likely to touch off a court battle that could delay further the enforcement of the Feinberg Law.

Durkin and Weeks Complete Cabinet

Durkin Sees Future Accord for All in His Department of Labor

All Must Prosper, Weeks Says, for Complete Success

Industrialist Declares Business Must Be in 'Favorable Climate'

Boston, Dec. 2 (AP) — Sinclair Weeks, Boston industrialist named by President-elect Eisenhower to be secretary of commerce, said today he hopes his experience in business will help him "make the new administration the success it is bound to be."

He will bring to the cabinet a wide experience in business and politics and, he says, this philosophy:

"If business is good and there is a high degree of activity in commercial and industrial fields, everyone is well off correspondingly.

"To get such a situation there has to be a favorable business climate—not a socialistic climate—and if such a climate is developed in such a manner that business can go ahead and the great inventive genius of our people can create new products and new methods, then everyone is going to benefit."

'All Have Objectives'

He maintained also that "ownership, business and labor all have objectives, but no one of these can prosper without the other two prospering as well."

The 59-year-old Weeks is chairman of the Republican National Committee's finance committee and lists connections with numerous business concerns.

He is chairman of the board of the United-Carr Fastener Corp., Cambridge, and the Reed and Barton Corp., a silverware concern of Taunton, Mass.

He is also a director of Atlas Plywood, First National Bank of Boston, Pacific Mills, Gillette Safety Razor Co., Wentworth Institute, the Pullman Co., and Rand Avery-Gordon Taylor, Inc.

To Quit Post

He told reporters shortly after he was named late yesterday that he would quit the GOP committee post and "sever every business connection I have as soon as I take office."

As a cabinet member he will have followed in the footsteps of his father, the late John W. Weeks, secretary of war under Warren G. Harding.

Weeks was an early backer of Eisenhower and just before the GOP convention last July urged Sen. Robert A. Taft to perform a "supreme act of self-denial" and quit the presidential race in favor of the general.

He is credited with raising one million dollars for the GOP campaign even before the convention got under way.

Advice Is Sought

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—A congressional committee disturbed over gaping loopholes in spending restrictions of the present election laws sought the advice today of the men who will be postmaster general in the Eisenhower cabinet. The committee, a special House group headed by Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.), wants suggestions from Arthur Summerfield, chairman of the Republican National Committee, on how best to adapt present antiquated election laws to today's high-cost and high-powered political campaigns. Tomorrow the committee plans to question Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The position of the treasury Nov. 28: Net budget receipts, $111,246,265.53; budget expenditures, $543,330,893.60, cash balance, $7,635,969,514.20; customs receipts for month $43,804,964.50; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $21,201,323,465.61; budget expenditures fiscal year $29,373,196,327.11; budget deficit $8,171,872,861.50; total debt, $267,482,827,350.79; increase over previous day, $174,659,571.27; gold assets, $23,337,200,261.88.

T-H Law Alteration Viewed as Vital to Peace in Business

Washington, Dec 2 (AP) — The man named by President-elect Eisenhower to be secretary of labor believes the Labor Department will be strengthened and the Taft-Hartley Act amended in a way satisfactory to both the unions and management.

Martin P. Durkin, 58, president of the AFL Plumbers Union, will be the only Catholic and the only Democrat in the Eisenhower cabinet. His appointment to be secretary of labor was announced by Eisenhower's Headquarters yesterday.

Though the policy of the AFL and of his union calls for repeal of Taft-Hartley, Durkin told newsmen he is convinced the law can be "amended to satisfy labor . . . and no doubt, to satisfy management as well."

Amendment, rather than outright repeal of the nation's labor law was Eisenhower's campaign pledge.

Durkin said he was "greatly surprised" at his appointment because he voted for Adlai E. Stevenson in November and helped put over the AFL's official endorsement of the Democratic nominee.

Sees Eisenhower Considerate

But he told reporters:

"I think President-elect Eisenhower will give full and complete consideration to the problems of labor."

Eisenhower's decision to pick his man from union ranks could prove to be either a noteworthy political stroke or a new source of friction between AFL and CIO.

President Truman and the late Franklin D. Roosevelt went outside labor for the secretaries. When filling non-cabinet jobs they generally tried to find men from independent unions, or else paired

Taft Is Sore Because Ike Chose Durkin

Cincinnati, Dec. 2 (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft today called the selection of Martin Durkin, a Democrat, as secretary of labor "an incredible appointment" by President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sen. Taft, who campaigned for Eisenhower after losing the GOP nomination to him, said in a prepared statement:

"The appointment of Mr. Durkin is an incredible appointment. This is no reflection on the character or ability of Mr. Durkin. I had a number of talks with Herbert Brownell who has been the key man in cabinet appointments, and made several recommendations of qualified men.

"It was never even suggested that a man would be appointed who has always been a partisan Truman Democrat, who fought General Eisenhower's election, and advocated the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

'Affront,' He Says

"It is an affront to millions of union members and officers who had the courage to defy the edict of officials like Mr. Durkin that they vote for Stevenson. This appointment leaves without representation in the cabinet those millions of Democrats, north and south, who left the party to support General Eisenhower, and gives representation to their most bitter opponents."

The statement immediately brought to question Taft's future political relationship with Gen. Eisenhower.

None of His Men

Only a few days ago, Taft remarked that the general's choice for cabinet posts had not included anyone he had recommended.

The senator had gone all out for Eisenhower's election after his own defeat in the GOP convention, making speeches in many states.

One of the things the Republicans fought during the campaign was the declaration by President Truman and others that Eisenhower was more or less under control of Taft.

Local Labor Is Pleased, Is Report

Kingston Representatives Have Known Appointee for 10 Years

The announcement that Martin P. Durkin, head of the AFL Plumbers' Union, has been named Secretary of Labor in the Eisenhower cabinet is drawing favorable comment in local labor circles, George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent for the Kingston Metal Trades Council and other AFL unions, said today.

Boston Republican Gets Post as Secretary of Commerce, Ike Aide Announces

CIO Is Silent

No Official Comment Made by Rival Union at Atlantic City

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Eisenhower cabinet was complete today with the selection of AFL leader Martin P. Durkin of Chicago as secretary of labor and Sinclair Weeks, a Boston business man and Republican official, as secretary of commerce.

President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's choice of Durkin, a Democrat who voted for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, came as a surprise yesterday.

Durkin, the only Democrat on the new cabinet list, is the first person ever to be taken directly from a labor union office for the secretary of labor post. Some previous secretaries had been in the labor movement before appointment.

Durkin, 58, is general president of the AFL United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the plumbing and pipe-fitting industry of the United States and Canada.

Is Finance Chairman

Weeks, 59, is chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee. He is an industrialist and bank director and has been a power in the Massachusetts GOP for nearly 20 years and in the national GOP organization since 1940.

The designations of Durkin and Weeks were announced by Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., who will be Eisenhower's White House secretary.

Vandenberg also announced the designation of Walter Williams of Seattle as under secretary of commerce. He was chairman of the National Citizens for Eisenhower.

Official CIO comment on Durkin's selection was refused at Atlantic City, N. J., where the national CIO convention is in session. Some CIO leaders said privately they were disappointed that an AFL man rather than a CIO man was picked.

Getting Along Seen

The CIO leaders took the selection of a labor man as an indication that the Eisenhower administration wants to get along with organized labor.

The naming of Durkin was hailed by George Meany, recently elected president of the AFL. Calling Durkin an "outstanding trade unionist," Meany said in a statement:

"He is ideally fitted by training, experience, ability and temperament for his new post. Mr. Durkin's appointment will inspire confidence among the ranks of organized labor in the expressed desire and determination of President-elect Eisenhower to be fair to the nation's workers."

Cabinet Formation

The complete cabinet lineup now stands this way:

Defense—Charles E. Wilson, Detroit; State—John Foster Dulles, New York; Treasury—George M. Humphrey, Cleveland; Agriculture—Ezra Taft Benson, Salt Lake City; Interior—Gov. Douglas McKay, Oregon; Labor—Martin P. Durkin, Chicago; Commerce—Sinclair Weeks, Boston; Attorney General—Herbert Brownell, Jr., New York; Postmaster General—Arthur E. Summerfield, Flint, Mich.

Weeks, one of Eisenhower's earliest backers in the pre-convention campaign, is board chairman of two Massachusetts business firms, a director of three others and of the First National Bank of Boston.

Durkin served from 1933 to 1941 as Illinois state director of labor, serving under Governors Henry Horner, John Stelle and Dwight Green.

He has been president of the AFL union since 1943 after serving two years as its secretary-treasurer.

Voted for Adlai

Durkin said after his selection was announced:

"I not only voted for Stevenson, but I supported the American Federation of Labor in endorsing

U. S. Has Trouble With Red Propaganda in Our Mails

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Post Office Department said today it hasn't yet found any sure way to keep Chinese Communist propaganda out of the U. S. mails—but is still trying.

The department renewed an appeal to the general public, originally made several weeks ago, to turn in to local postmasters all such material which the postman may deliver.

Officials pointed out that, in the absence of any form of censorship in this country, mailings under sealed covers are not subject to postal inspection, so the department has to depend upon the voluntary cooperation of those receiving propaganda items.

In making these statements, the department said it had just transmitted its thanks to Bert Teeters, editor of the Springfield (O.) News, for sending in some samples of Red propaganda on the Korean War which came into his hands

These included a booklet titled "Shall Brothers Be * * *?" published by a group called "Chinese Brothers' Committee for World Peace and Against American Aggression," headquartered at Peiping, the Red China capital. It was mailed to the United States from Berlin, and noted that other similar material was available in Czechoslovakia.

The contents included purported letters signed by United Nations prisoners of war, praising Communist treatment.

The Post Office Department said the material was clearly unmailable, because it involved distribution of foreign political propaganda by persons not registered under the Foreign Agents' Registration Act.

The Chinese Communist propaganda mailings into this country have taken a number of forms, including solicitations of funds from the next of kin of war prisoners and from Chinese-Americans with relatives in China. Most of this material gets in from behind the Iron Curtain in Europe.

Would Avoid Testimony

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Leaders of an AFL International Longshoremen's Association local, apparently defying ILA President Joseph P. Ryan, have gone to court seeking to avoid appearing before the New York State Crime Commission. A show cause order obtained by attorneys for ILA Local 824 was scheduled for argument today before State Supreme Court Justice Felix C. Benvenga. The order requires the State Crime Commission, which opens public hearings on waterfront crime here tomorrow, to show cause why subpoenas served on three Local 824 members should not be vacated.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The stock market sagged today in a quiet manner despite some outstanding strong points.

Losses seldom went past a point while the upside had issues traded actively at gains of between 1 and 2 points. Most plus signs, however, were small.

Trading was at a rate that would make a mark of two million shares for the entire day difficult to achieve. Yesterday's volume came to 2,100,000 shares.

Selling was apparent right from the start of trading, and prices dropped all around. Within a short time support appeared here and there but especially in the railroads. Northern Pacific and Union Pacific both headed higher.

Chrysler was quite active and up a major fraction, a move against the trend for the motor division as a whole.

Zenith was down around 2 points at times after directors declared an extra of one dollar. No extra was declared a year ago.

Charge Is Dismissed

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman has dismissed a false advertising claim against Chesterfield cigarettes. The Federal Trade Commission had complained that Liggett and Meyers Tobacco Co. falsely asserted that Chesterfields, which it produces, would not irritate the throat. Kaufman yesterday ruled that cigarettes are not a drug within meaning of the pure food and drug laws and that he therefore must dismiss the complaint.

Automobile license plates for 1953 went on sale Monday and first-day business at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau, 32 Main street, was steady but not unduly rushed, a check with officials disclosed this morning.

It was impossible to report the total number of orders received because mail requests for specific numbers are held until those numbers are reached. However, it was reported that more than 200 consecutive numbers in the 8D series were issued on Monday.

The county Motor Vehicle Bureau is in charge of Ralph Post, deputy county clerk. E. J. Dempsy, his immediate predecessor in that post, was also on hand Monday and today to assist in the issuance of registrations.

Trooper Injured When Car Leaves Road Near Catskill

State Trooper Charles Hand of Newburgh was injured about 9 a. m. today when his automobile ran off Route 9W about three miles north of Catskill, state police reported.

Trooper Hand was returning to duty at the Ravena sub-station, where he is assigned, at the time of the accident.

Troopers of the Catskill station investigated and reported that Hand suffered a lacerated scalp, concussion and possible back and chest injuries when his car left the highway, struck several trees and came to a stop in a ditch.

Rest Leave Suspends

Seoul, Dec. 2 (AP)—Movement of U. S. troops to Japan for rest leave was under at least a temporary suspension today, apparently as part of the security precaution for the impending visit of U. S. President-elect Dwight Eisenhower to Korea. Air force officers said they were not moving rest-bound troops from Korean airports. Belief that the suspension is connected with the planned Eisenhower visit stems from the army's intent to limit movement to and from Korea before and during his stay.

Plan Is Approved

United Nations, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—Western and neutral nations which have approved India's peace plan for Korea, refused today to accept a Russian demand for an immediate cease-fire in Korea. Forty-one countries in the 60-nation UN Assembly Political Committee voted down the Russian proposals, which would also have demanded forcible repatriation of all war prisoners. Only the Soviet bloc voted for the Russian plan. Twelve countries, chiefly in the Orient, abstained.

Would Avoid Testimony

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Leaders of an AFL International Longshoremen's Association local, apparently defying ILA President Joseph P. Ryan, have gone to court seeking to avoid appearing before the New York State Crime Commission. A show cause order obtained by attorneys for ILA Local 824 was scheduled for argument today before State Supreme Court Justice Felix C. Benvenga. The order requires the State Crime Commission, which opens public hearings on waterfront crime here tomorrow, to show cause why subpoenas served on three Local 824 members should not be vacated.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The stock market sagged today in a quiet manner despite some outstanding strong points.

Losses seldom went past a point while the upside had issues traded actively at gains of between 1 and 2 points. Most plus signs, however, were small.

Trading was at a rate that would make a mark of two million shares for the entire day difficult to achieve. Yesterday's volume came to 2,100,000 shares.

Selling was apparent right from the start of trading, and prices dropped all around. Within a short time support appeared here and there but especially in the railroads. Northern Pacific and Union Pacific both headed higher.

Chrysler was quite active and up a major fraction, a move against the trend for the motor division as a whole.

Zenith was down around 2 points at times after directors declared an extra of one dollar. No extra was declared a year ago.

Charge Is Dismissed

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman has dismissed a false advertising claim against Chesterfield cigarettes. The Federal Trade Commission had complained that Liggett and Meyers Tobacco Co. falsely asserted that Chesterfields, which it produces, would not irritate the throat. Kaufman yesterday ruled that cigarettes are not a drug within meaning of the pure food and drug laws and that he therefore must dismiss the complaint.

Trooper Injured When Car Leaves Road Near Catskill

State Trooper Charles Hand of Newburgh was injured about 9 a. m. today when his automobile ran off Route 9W about three miles north of Catskill, state police reported.

Trooper Hand was returning to duty at the Ravena sub-station, where he is assigned, at the time of the accident.

Troopers of the Catskill station investigated and reported that Hand suffered a lacerated scalp, concussion and possible back and chest injuries when his car left the highway, struck several trees and came to a stop in a ditch.

He was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, where his condition early this afternoon was reported as "fair."

Rest Leave Suspends

Seoul, Dec. 2 (AP)—Movement of U. S. troops to Japan for rest leave was under at least a temporary suspension today, apparently as part of the security precaution for the impending visit of U. S. President-elect Dwight Eisenhower to Korea. Air force officers said they were not moving rest-bound troops from Korean airports. Belief that the suspension is connected with the planned Eisenhower visit stems from the army's intent to limit movement to and from Korea before and during his stay.

Plan Is Approved

United Nations, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—Western and neutral nations which have approved India's peace plan for Korea, refused today to accept a Russian demand for an immediate cease-fire in Korea. Forty-one countries in the 60-nation UN Assembly Political Committee voted down the Russian proposals, which would also have demanded forcible repatriation of all war prisoners. Only the Soviet bloc voted for the Russian plan. Twelve countries, chiefly in the Orient, abstained.

Workman Rescued By 'Copter From Big Water Tank

Point Pleasant, N. J., Dec. 2 (AP)—A young workman tumbled 30 feet to the bottom of a 160-foot high water tank yesterday and was rescued by a navy helicopter after all other attempts to get him out failed.

The workman, 20-year-old John Breece of Deshler, Ohio, suffered a broken neck in the fall and was reported in critical condition at Point Pleasant Hospital.

The helicopter, from the Lakehurst Naval Air Station, equipped with a rescue basket such as those used at sea, gently lifted young Breece from inside the tank and then lowered him to the ground nearby.

Breece had been working with several other men inside the tank when he fell about 30 feet and crashed into the steel bottom. A first aid squad was helpless in attempting a rescue, since the tank towers 160 feet above the ground.

A police call to the Lakehurst station resulted in the sending of the helicopter. Breece's co-workers placed the injured youth in the helicopter's basket when it was lowered to the bottom of the tank.

The Panama Canal runs north and south through much of its length.

GOP to Have Small Civil Service Jobs

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Civil Service Commission says Republicans will have 170,382 federal jobs — mostly small ones—available for patronage purposes.

The announcement, based on a recent survey, was made yesterday. It had been awaited since the Nov. 4 election which gave the Republicans control of the White House and Congress for the first time in 20 years. They take over next month.

The commission's figures did not describe the "open" positions or show what they pay. The announcement emphasized that more than 95 per cent of the 2½ million federal jobs are protected by civil service or some form of merit system.

OPPOSITION FOR ITS OWN SAKE

There is no reason at all to doubt the sincerity of Governor Adlai Stevenson when he voices the hope that the Democratic Party will take a position of "positive and intelligent opposition" during the Eisenhower administration.

Stevenson today is the acknowledged leader of his party. President Truman himself told the nation that. The governor has wide backing within the ranks. Undoubtedly he will use his influence to make of the Democrats the "loyal opposition."

Yet the realities of politics may actually produce a substantially different result. Not too many people are around who remember, but in the old days of Republican ascendancy, the Democrats very frequently opposed for opposition's sake. No one needs to be reminded that the Republicans, in the Democratic era just closing, did much the same thing.

History, of course, does not have to repeat itself. But, broadly speaking, it is very likely to.

The minority party is in the business of setting itself apart from the majority. In wartime, such mundane considerations get buried. Even in critical peacetime, like the present day, there may be a high degree of cooperation between the parties on foreign affairs. Certainly there is every prospect that General Eisenhower will draw a lot of Democratic support for his foreign programs.

But time will probably show that wherever the slightest excuse exists for criticism, for opposing, for going off at a different tangent, the Democrats will do these things. Only thus can they be confident of going to the voters four years hence with a truly distinctive record.

In other words, "me-tooism" will in the long run prove no more popular with the Democrats than it was in GOP ranks. And to the extent that Stevenson tries to compel his party to follow such a course, he may find his cohorts looking to other leadership.

Already a few in Congress are chafing under the Stevenson reins, urging that this or that senator be turned to for guidance. It will be hard, indeed almost impossible, to keep Democratic lawmakers from making a record that stresses opposition for its own sake.

Television has been criticized because so few programs take into account that viewers are really more intelligent than they are given credit for being. In brief, the television channels are just too shallow.

HISTORIC JOURNEY

President-elect Eisenhower may accomplish a great deal on his proposed trip to Korea. As one of the greatest living military commanders he will be quick to grasp the problems which confront our leaders there and that knowledge will serve him well in making the decisions which will face him as commander-in-chief of the armed forces. The trip may serve to bolster the morale of the troops in Korea as well as that of our allies the South Koreans.

It has been necessary to pay a great deal of attention to the defense of Europe and it is easy to see how men fighting the lonely war in Korea can get an idea that they are forgotten or neglected. A visit from the man who will soon be President will be assurance to them that their struggle is not unnoticed or unappreciated.

There are certain risks involved in the trip. It can be hoped that the General, whose reputation for bravery was established long before he became a political figure, will not expose himself to unnecessary dangers. Every effort will be made to keep him safe but war is no respecter of persons or greatness. As a life-long soldier Eisenhower is well aware of this.

It is likely that a news blackout will shroud the trip. We will not know that our next President has left the country until he is safely away from the fighting fronts. In the next few weeks the hopes and the hopeful prayers of all Americans will be with Dwight D. Eisenhower on his momentous journey.

Pajama prices are supposed to go up next spring. People will just have to get more sleep to get their money's worth.

'These Days'

INSIDE THE PRISON

Not often does a man of imagination and zeal get himself into prison as a bonafide inmate who wants to tell the world about what it means to punish a man by a process of dehumanization.

Walter Wanger, the motion picture producer, asks questions which are, of course, not new: Do we send men to prison to correct them or to punish them? Do we expect them to come out of prison better men or worse men? If we want to punish them, then why the pretense of humanity? If we seek to cure them of evil, to restrain their passions, to correct their infirmities, why do we surround them with an environment which over the centuries has been proved to increase crime?

The answers to these questions have generally been futile. For instance, what advantage to society has it ever been to throw young men who have erred into the enforced company of homosexuals and narcotics users and pushers? It seems a costly, corrupting process both to the prisoner and to the taxpayer, who provides first for the care of a mistaken youth and later when he has become a corrupted, even an incorrigible man.

Walter Wanger is trying to tell this to the world after his experience in prison, but few will listen, for they say the prisoner deserves what he gets, which is not always true and beside the point when you and I are paying for it in constantly increasing taxes.

The rise of crime in this country is seriously frightening, but it touches directly few persons. Robberies, burglaries, pickpocketing, prostitution, we put down to the wickedness of man and forget about them. Then occurs a horrible murder and that shocks a little, but as we have drenched our minds with murders on the radio and as we read and enjoy murders in magazines and in those glazed books that are sold on newsstands, we can take a few in the news. Even the distressing accounts of the pushing of narcotics among schoolchildren did not arouse parents sufficiently to form a posse and hang the beasts on the nearest lamp post.

We are so civilized that we hardly ever get angry about the things that are really important. The last emphatic national anger occurred when Lindbergh's baby was kidnaped and murdered. Since then, our passions have been restrained by mature (or is it senile?) assumptions that wrongdoing is inevitable and that the police will, in due course, do the best they can.

Preventive criminology, however, can begin in the prison if intelligence is applied to the mental and moral character of the offender, particularly the first offender. Among my earlier jobs was a sort of press agent for a committee on prison labor. I steeped myself in prison data and lore for some years, only to reach the conclusion that little can be done unless some university undertakes to train prison wardens and other officials down to the turnkeys, as West Point trains lieutenants to become generals.

The wardens I encountered more than 30 years ago were politicians who got jobs to keep men under lock and key, and disturbances out of the newspapers.

The essential problems are medical and psychiatric, but the law has not caught up to that. Nor has the law caught up to the economic fact that if the prison worsens the prisoner, so that he becomes a chronic criminal, habituated to the trade of abusing his fellow man and even enjoying it, the cost to the taxpayer grows as he becomes worse.

In those early days, when I was working my way into and through college and acting as a press agent for this committee, I needed a tutor to help me over a few bumps. So, I encountered an ex-convict who was a man of learning and culture, a linguist and a musician. He had pulled a fast one, got caught and went to prison where he served as a librarian and tutored the warden's children.

When he came out, he never could get any kind of a job and had to live by his wits. He became a politician. He earned his way irregularly. He somehow managed until he died.

Most ex-cons become repeaters because they cannot find jobs. A job is the first step in rehabilitation.

That Body of Yours

DEVELOPING SPEECH

If a child is unable to speak so that others can understand him, he is sadly handicapped in life—socially, industrially, mentally, physically and emotionally.

If, added to his inability to talk properly, he is also crippled as is the case with children suffering with cerebral palsy, the family and the family physician may not be aware of the help available to this unfortunate child.

I have at hand a copy of "A System for Developing Speech with Cerebral Palsied Children." The system has been evolved by Harold Westlake, Ph.D., director of the speech and hearing clinic, Northwestern University. In addition to his position at Northwestern, Dr. Westlake is counselor in speech and audiology (defective speech and hearing) to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and is president of the American Speech and Hearing Association.

"Normal development of speech is a gradual but orderly process lasting through the first seven and one-half years of a child's life," Dr. Westlake points out that the teaching of the cerebral palsied child will take at least that long.

The proposed system for speech training is thought of as having three phases:

(1) Psychological (mental) and social readiness for speech.

(2) Physiological readiness for speech.

(3) Direct training for speech.

The psychological phase is the child's gaining an awareness of self interest in persons and things. It includes an awareness of speech, an interest in speech and a need for some speech. Language is communication and helps to mature the child.

The second or physiological phase emphasizes the ability to use muscles and control their use in order to complete the act of speaking.

The third phase, the direct training of speech, emphasizes two points; first, because a cerebral palsied child does not use a word or sound, does not always mean that he could not do so without formal muscle training. He can do so if he tries following a parent or teacher but special teaching will bring quicker results.

In the system evolved by Dr. Westlake, he acknowledges the financial help of the Alpha Chi Omega national women's fraternity and the methodology described in the booklet represents an adaptation of the therapy of treatment as taught by Dr. Winthrop Phelps and Dr. Meyer Perlstein and the occupational and physical therapy by Ruth Brungate and Robertine St. James.

This booklet, "A System of Developing Speech in Cerebral Palsied Children," so valuable to parents and teachers is available at 25 cents from the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, 11 South La Salle street, Chicago 3, Illinois.

Still King of the Mountains

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — To those who have long studied the Korean stalemate, the chances of Gen. Eisenhower's breaking it, following his trip to Korea, seem just about nil.

However, luck sometimes plays a hand in international affairs, and Eisenhower all his life has been lucky. His army career has shown some extraordinary lucky breaks, and he has always had the ability to capitalize on them. Korea might be such a break.

Barring luck, however, the odds are heavy against Ike in Korea, and here are the reasons why — reasons which were sent Eisenhower during his election campaign as part of the weekly intelligence reports from the Pentagon:

1. The Korean war gives the Chinese an excuse for demanding military equipment from Russia, thus increasing China's military power.

2. The war also gives the Chinese an excuse for consolidating their military power in Manchuria where they have long been in competition with the Russians. Thus, a buildup of their military strength in Manchuria puts them in good position to keep the Russians out later.

3. Korea also gives Chinese Communist leaders a war against the hated foreigners to use as an excuse to arouse the populace and make them forget their low living standards still unimproved by Communism.

4. As far as Russia is concerned, Korea gives the Kremlin a chance to cause dissension inside the United Nations, wage hate propaganda against us, and keep a large part of the U. S. army and navy pinned down in a remote and uncomfortable part of the world.

Chinese Stiffen

These are the reasons why the Russian-Chinese axis is not likely to want a truce, and why the Eisenhower mission, barring extreme good luck, is not likely to pave the way for peace.

In fact, Pentagon intelligence summaries which have been sent the President-elect show that the Chinese have been encouraged by the demands of our recent political campaign to withdraw U. S. troops from Korea. As a result, the Chinese are now likely to stiffen their truce terms to include complete U. S. withdrawal from Korea.

So the American public should be prepared for the probability that Ike's chances in Korea are somewhat less good now than they were before the presidential debate started. In effect, his speeches in October probably made more difficult his mission in December.

The lucky break which Eisenhower might possibly get involves a complete change of policy inside the Kremlin, and this will be discussed later.

Troops From Formosa

Barring heaven-sent luck, however, here are some definite results which Eisenhower can score:

A. The use of two, or possibly three, divisions of Chiang Kai-shek's troops on Formosa.

B. Or the equipping of two more divisions of South Korean troops.

C. A definite policy for next spring, probably involving a heavy UN offensive.

Inside fact is that General Mark Clark hadn't been in the Far East more than a month before he began urging that Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa be allowed to fight in Korea. (That is one reason Eisenhower is certain to stop on Formosa, review Nationalist troops and confer with Chiang.)

Clark's recommendation, however, ran squarely up against a counter-recommendation by General Van Fleet that South Koreans be equipped instead.

What most people don't realize is that South Korean and Chinese Nationalists cannot be put into battle at the same time. This is purely a matter of equipment. There just has not been enough equipment for both.

The Pentagon agreed last year that South Korean troops should be put into battle as soon as they could be trained and equipped, and for a time it was even proposed to cut down on the flow of equipment to U. S. troops. This flow requires a 90-day supply constantly en route from the factory to the front, and it was suggested that this be cut to a 45-day supply in order to use extra equipment for South Koreans.

After some solemn arithmetic in the Pentagon, however, it was decided that 90 days was the minimum reserve for U. S. troops.

Gradually, more equipment became available for the ROK's and two more divisions were put into the front line on Oct. 15.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Nationalists have two divisions in fairly good shape, and given new equipment they could be transported to Korea. However, this means slowing up the use of more ROK troops, plus the time of transporting the Nationalists from Formosa, plus the question raised by some strategists as to whether they will fight with the same fervor as the ROK's.

Most Pentagon strategists believe they will, though some point to the heavy surrender of Chiang's forces during the Communist civil war; also point to the opposition of our UN allies to the use of Nationalist troops. The State Department has even predicted, confidentially, that some of our UN allies will pull out of Korea if Nationalist troops are used.

Another worry is that Chinese Communists might celebrate the use of Chiang's troops in Korea by reopening a full-scale war against Chiang on Formosa, thus embroiling our 7th Fleet in a sea and air battle with the formidable Russo-Chinese air force and submarine fleet.

These are some of the extremely difficult problems Eisenhower faces and which he, as commander-in-chief, must decide. It should be remembered, of course, that he can make no decisions until Jan. 20, and that nothing concrete can come of his Korean trip until that time. Its chief advantage will be to give him a firsthand look at the Korean problems which he will face as President of the United States in about six weeks.

(Another column on what faces Eisenhower in Korea will follow shortly.)

Questions — Answers

Q—Is it true that the Empire State Building sways in a high wind?

A—No, the motion is not appreciable. Tests have shown that it would take a wind of 100 miles per hour, blowing steadily for two hours or more, to cause the building to deviate from the vertical as much as 1.45 inches, measured at the top. Only twice in the past 25 years have winds of this speed been recorded in New York.

Eisenhower Attains Three Goals in Appointing Durkin to Cabinet as Labor Secretary

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 2—Three objectives were achieved by President-elect Eisenhower in appointing Martin P. Durkin to be secretary of Labor.

It is an unwritten law of politics that, if possible, there should be at least one Catholic in the cabinet. It is also considered desirable to appoint a pro-union man to be secretary of labor. It is likewise important to recognize the minority party.

Mr. Durkin is a Catholic, a Democrat who supported Stevenson, and president of the national plumbers union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

In recent years there has been a tendency to avoid appointing either a CIO or an AFL man because of the rivalry between the two labor organizations. Before the split occurred, AFL men were twice appointed three times to the cabinet portfolio known as the Department of Labor. Since it appears that the AFL and CIO may unite soon, the fact that an AFL leader was chosen is not likely to set up any new antagonism from the CIO.

The President-elect has certainly shown excellent judgment in appointing Mr. Durkin. It means that union labor will have direct access to the White House. It means also that the new President will have at his elbow a man who can tell him how labor will react to various proposals of public policy. Likewise, General Eisenhower will have a spokesman who can interpret the views of his administration to labor and the public.

A cabinet is supposed to be representative of a variety of interests. Certainly the appointment of Sinclair Weeks of Boston to be secretary of commerce brings to the cabinet a man who knows the background of business and finance. So also does George Humphrey, the new secretary of the treasury, whose experience has been in large industries.

Now that the entire cabinet has been selected, it may be said that it represents a balance as between political as well as economic viewpoints.

John Foster Dulles reflects the international-cooperation doctrines of American policy from the time the Republican administration of 1920 entered into a naval-limitation agreement and a treaty outlawing war.

Charles E. Wilson reflects the new approach to the main problem of the defense department, which is to eliminate waste and get production of armament from business and industry going on an efficient basis. It is a business rather than a military job.

Herbert Brownell is one of the ablest lawyers in the country, and his willingness to take the portfolio of attorney general is a welcome sign of the sacrifices being made today by successful men to go into government service.

Ezra Taft Benson is an experienced and trained agricultural expert, and his selection as secretary of agriculture has been hailed by farm organizations as an excellent choice.

Governor Douglas McKay of Oregon, who is to become secretary of the Interior, knows the problems of reclamation and development of natural resources, particularly from the western viewpoint.

Arthur Summerfield, a successful business man, will, as postmaster general, give the American people a businesslike administration of the postal service.

All in all, the President-elect has picked his own men on the basis of merit. Where he has made his selections, he has not looked for pro-Taft or pro-Dewey men as such but has sought out the ablest men, and it so happens that both wings of the Republican Party have representation.

Probably the appointment of the new secretary of labor will come as the biggest surprise. For here a Democrat who didn't support Eisenhower is given a cabinet post of far-reaching importance. It will be noted that Mr. Durkin served the Democratic administration of Governor Horner in Illinois as state labor director and he helped to establish and manage a health and accident division, an unemployment compensation system, and a state conciliation and mediation service. This means he probably will ask that the U. S. Conciliation Service go back to the Department of Labor, though Congress will finally decide that question.

It is a good cabinet—one of the best in the last 50 years. It is a cabinet of men who have been successful in their vocations—men who bring to the government service both ability and integrity.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Repartee and controversy in politics and related fields had been waged in restrained, even stately terms, for a long time before the Roosevelt Democrats came to power in 1933. Roosevelt was a personal sissy, or mama's boy, who seemed to have learned some earthy expressions from the coachman's children down behind the barn and to have cherished a desire all the years to ride in the smoker amongst the men and try his verboten vocabulary. He gratified this with awkward and tell-tale abandon when he became President, expressing himself, sometimes, through the agency of Charlie Michelson, a sardonic old professional heckler who originated the organized smear with Herbert Hoover and "respectability" as the primary victims. To be honest, our political contentions had become so formal that the public, as a whole, enjoyed thinking of Hoover and Coolidge as stuffed shirts, a derisive term which actually referred to men who were gentle men though politicians.

In the Roosevelt-Truman era we went, as the British put it in one of their singularly vapid gems, "all out." Roosevelt had an affinity for rapscallions who were swine in their domestic affairs, Hopkins and Ickes, for flagrant examples, though some of his own loved ones would do. A circle with such a low concept of morals felt an instinctive envy and hatred of genteel men and ladies of good speech and morals. Instinctively they undertook to bring the public standard down to their own level, leaving decency beached high and dry on a more and more lonely shore.

The personal influence exerted on this development in American culture by magnates of the press has been important and deleterious. Publicists who maintained the traditional, inconspicuous decency refrained from criticizing influential colleagues whose personal conduct was shockingly bad according to the normal American moral standards lest they seem sanctimonious, perhaps lest indiscretion of their own come out or for a variety of other deterrent reasons. At any rate, our press certainly did default in a moral change which swept over us unchallenged. Men and women of the grossest flagrancy occupied high public office and ran great propaganda powers directing the weak cerebrations of a people who thus were set to yapping and snapping and honking angry opinions on synthetic problems that they knew absolutely nothing about.

Polygamy was not indorsed as such but chain marriage became a fad. The question "why does the poor fool marry them?" was asked in open amusement whenever a Tommy Manville took another recruit to spouse. Manville was said to have remarked that he had a set rate of alimony, indicating that he insisted on agreement as a condition of marriage.

Of late, but only of late and only in the feeblest voices, a few Catholic priests and Protestant ministers have been resisting a church policy which befriends a regime professing great love of the common people without stipulating, however, that the morale example of that regime has been bad and must not be accepted in a package-deal to a prelate with political objectives in view, however noble they may be, the question must occur whether he may intentionally refrain from warning his flock to reject the personal, non-political examples of the dignitaries of the favored regime.

There have been historic precedents of the very problem that has been passing before our consciousness. In some of them, vicars of Christ on earth have held their tongues for reasons which may, in charity, be construed as noble but always in the end, with discredit to themselves and temporary misfortune to the career of religion among humanity. It is especially unfortunate that the few conspicuous opponents of this immorality were mountebanks and scamps whose obvious purpose was not to vindicate and rescue morality but to destroy the New Deal and the Truman extension of the same thing which was known by the banal name of the Fair Deal. Gerald L. K. Smith, for example, may be truly moral but his purpose, if it be moral, is badly compromised by collateral motives.

It is worthy of note that the individual close to Truman who was worst abused in general but never in specific terms by Truman's political opponents, Harry Vaughan, was a man of exemplary deportment on his home grounds in Washington throughout his ordeal. He even taught a Bible class, not just fitfully and for the record, but regularly for years. In the absence of the slightest charge to the contrary after minute search of his affairs, I willingly take it that he was not a grafter beyond the value of the deplorable deep-freeze and a few other trifles which a Roosevelt would spurn as a bell-hop spurns a devalued dime, and for the same reason.

Truman himself, though his personal history has been searched, comes out of it all a clean man. Those who would dismiss this virtue as a personal foible of no public importance may be suspected of ulterior reasons. His wife has been polite and as inconspicuous as she could make herself. His daughter, under temptations which corrupted the deportment of contemporary belles of similar station, has been a lady, spirited but proper. If it be argued, and it is, that Mrs. Truman kept the appointed place of the wife of a president because she lacked the equipment which Mrs. Roosevelt employed to create her artful career, let it be said in justice also that Mrs. Roosevelt lacked the honesty and goodness which restrained her successor from excesses.

OPPOSITION FOR ITS OWN SAKE

There is no reason at all to doubt the sincerity of Governor Adlai Stevenson when he voices the hope that the Democratic Party will take a position of "positive and intelligent opposition" during the Eisenhower administration.

Stevenson today is the acknowledged leader of his party. President Truman himself told the nation that. The governor has wide backing within the ranks. Undoubtedly he will use his influence to make of the Democrats the "loyal opposition."

Yet the realities of politics may actually produce a substantially different result. Not too many people are around who remember, but in the old days of Republican ascendancy, the Democrats very frequently opposed for opposition's sake. No one needs to be reminded that the Republicans, in the Democratic era just closing, did much the same thing.

History, of course, does not have to repeat itself. But, broadly speaking, it is very likely to.

The minority party is in the business of setting itself apart from the majority. In wartime, such mundane considerations get buried. Even in critical peacetime, like the present day, there may be a high degree of cooperation between the parties on foreign affairs. Certainly there is every prospect that General Eisenhower will draw a lot of Democratic support for his foreign programs.

But time will probably show that wherever the slightest excuse exists for criticism, for opposing, for going off at a different tangent, the Democrats will do these things. Only thus can they be confident of going to the voters four years hence with a truly distinctive record.

In other words, "me-tooism" will in the long run prove no more popular with the Democrats than it was in GOP ranks. And to the extent that Stevenson tries to compel his party to follow such a course, he may find his cohorts looking to other leadership.

Already a few in Congress are chafing under the Stevenson reins, urging that this or that senator be turned to for guidance. It will be hard, indeed almost impossible, to keep Democratic lawmakers from making a record that stresses opposition for its own sake.

Television has been criticized because so few programs take into account that viewers are really more intelligent than they are given credit for being. In brief, the television channels are just too shallow.

HISTORIC JOURNEY

President-elect Eisenhower may accomplish a great deal on his proposed trip to Korea. As one of the greatest living military commanders he will be quick to grasp the problems which confront our leaders there and that knowledge will serve him well in making the decisions which will face him as commander-in-chief of the armed forces. The trip may serve to bolster the morale of the troops in Korea as well as that of our allies the South Koreans.

It has been necessary to pay a great deal of attention to the defense of Europe and it is easy to see how men fighting the lonely war in Korea can get an idea that they are forgotten or neglected. A visit from the man who will soon be President will be assurance to them that their struggle is not unnoticed or unappreciated.

There are certain risks involved in the trip. It can be hoped that the General, whose reputation for bravery was established long before he became a political figure, will not expose himself to unnecessary dangers. Every effort will be made to keep him safe but war is no respecter of persons or greatness. As a life-long soldier Eisenhower is well aware of this.

It is likely that a news blackout will shroud the trip. We will not know that our next President has left the country until he is safely away from the fighting fronts. In the next few weeks the hopes and the hopeful prayers of all Americans will be with Dwight D. Eisenhower on his momentous journey.

Pajama prices are supposed to go up next spring. People will just have to get more sleep to get their money's worth.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

INSIDE THE PRISON

Not often does a man of imagination and zeal get himself into prison as a bonafide inmate who wants to tell the world about what it means to punish a man by a process of dehumanization.

Walter Wanger, the motion picture producer, asks questions which are, of course, not new: Do we send men to prison to correct them or to punish them? Do we expect them to come out of prison better men or worse men? If we want to punish them, then why the pretense of humanity? If we seek to cure them of evil, to restrain their passions, to correct their infirmities, why do we surround them with an environment which over the centuries has been proved to increase crime?

The answers to these questions have generally been futile. For instance, what advantage to society has it ever been to throw young men who have erred into the enforced company of homosexuals and narcotics users and pushers? It seems a costly, corrupting process both to the prisoner and to the taxpayer, who provides first for the care of a mistaken youth and later when he has become a corrupted, even an incorrigible man.

Walter Wanger is trying to tell this to the world after his experience in prison, but few will listen, for they say the prisoner deserves what he gets, which is not always true and beside the point when you and I are paying for it in constantly increasing taxes.

The rise of crime in this country is seriously frightening, but it touches directly few persons. Robberies, burglaries, pickpocketing, prostitution, we put down to the wickedness of man and forget about them. Then occurs a horrible murder and that shocks a little, but as we have drenched our minds with murders on the radio and as we read and enjoy murders in magazines and in those glazed books that are sold on newsstands, we can take a few in the news. Even the distressing accounts of the pushing of narcotics among schoolchildren did not arouse parents sufficiently to form a posse and hang the beasts on the nearest lamp post.

We are so civilized that we hardly ever get angry about the things that are really important. The last emphatic national anger occurred when Lindbergh's baby was kidnaped and murdered. Since then, our passions have been restrained by mature (or is it senile?) assumptions that wrongdoing is inevitable and that the police will, in due course, do the best they can.

Preventive criminology, however, can begin in the prison if intelligence is applied to the mental and moral character of the offender, particularly the first offender. Among my earlier jobs was a sort of press agent for a committee on prison labor. I steeped myself in prison data and lore for some years, only to reach the conclusion that little can be done unless some university undertakes to train prison wardens and other officials down to the turnkeys, as West Point trains lieutenants to become generals.

The wardens I encountered more than 30 years ago were politicians who got jobs to keep men under lock and key, and disturbances out of the newspapers.

The essential problems are medical and psychiatric, but the law has not caught up to that. Nor has the law caught up to the economic fact that if the prison worsens the prisoner, so that he becomes a chronic criminal, habituated to the trade of abusing his fellow man and even enjoying it, the cost to the taxpayer grows as he becomes worse.

In those early days, when I was working my way into and through college and acting as a press agent for this committee, I needed a tutor to help me over a few bumps. So, I encountered an ex-convict who was a man of learning and culture, a linguist and a musician. He had pulled a fast one, got caught and went to prison where he served as a librarian and tutored the warden's children.

When he came out, he never could get any kind of a job and had to live by his wits. He became a politician. He earned his way irregularly. He somehow managed until he died.

Most ex-cons become repeaters because they cannot find jobs. A job is the first step in rehabilitation.

That Body of Yours

DEVELOPING SPEECH

If a child is unable to speak so that others can understand him, he is sadly handicapped in life—socially, industrially, mentally, physically and emotionally.

If, added to his inability to talk properly, he is also crippled as is the case with children suffering with cerebral palsy, the family and the family physician may not be aware of the help available to this unfortunate child.

I have at hand a copy of "A System for Developing Speech with Cerebral Palsied Children." The system has been evolved by Harold Westlake, Ph.D., director of the speech and hearing clinic, Northwestern University. In addition to his position at Northwestern, Dr. Westlake is counselor in speech and audiology (defective speech and hearing) to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and is president of the American Speech and Hearing Association.

"Normal development of speech is a gradual but orderly process lasting through the first seven and one-half years of a child's life." Dr. Westlake points out that the teaching of the cerebral palsied child will take at least that long.

The proposed system for speech training is thought of as having three phases:

(1) Psychological (mental) and social readiness for speech.
(2) Physiological readiness for speech.
(3) Direct training for speech.

The psychological phase is the child's gaining an awareness of self interest in persons and things. It includes an awareness of speech, an interest in speech and a need for some speech. Language is communication and helps to mature the child.

The second or physiological phase emphasizes the ability to use muscles and control their use in order to complete the act of speaking.

The third phase, the direct training of speech, emphasizes two points; first, because a cerebral palsied child does not use a word or sound, does not always mean that he could not do so without formal muscle training. He can do so if he tries following a parent or teacher but special teaching will bring quicker results.

In the system evolved by Dr. Westlake, he acknowledges the financial help of the Alpha Chi Omega national women's fraternity and the methodology described in the booklet represents an adaptation of the therapy of treatment as taught by Dr. Winthrop Phelps and Dr. Meyer Perlstein and the occupational and physical therapy by Ruth Brungate and Robertine St. James.

This booklet, "A System of Developing Speech in Cerebral Palsied Children," so valuable to parents and teachers is available at 25 cents from the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, 11 South La Salle street, Chicago 3, Illinois.

Still King of the Mountains

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — To those who have long studied the Korean statlemate, the chances of Gen. Eisenhower's breaking it, following his trip to Korea, seem just about nil.

However, luck sometimes plays a hand in international affairs, and Eisenhower all his life has been lucky. His army career has shown some extraordinary lucky breaks, and he has always had the ability to capitalize on them. Korea might be such a break.

Barring luck, however, the odds are heavy against Ike in Korea, and here are the reasons why — reasons which were sent Eisenhower during his election campaign as part of the weekly intelligence reports from the Pentagon:

1. The Korean war gives the Chinese an excuse for demanding military equipment from Russia, thus increasing China's military power.

2. The war also gives the Chinese an excuse for consolidating their military power in Manchuria where they have long been in competition with the Russians. Thus, a buildup of their military strength in Manchuria puts them in good position to keep the Russians out later.

3. Korea also gives Chinese Communist leaders a war against the hated foreigners to use as an excuse to arouse the populace and make them forget their low living standards still unimproved by Communism.

4. As far as Russia is concerned, Korea gives the Kremlin a chance to cause dissension inside the United Nations, wage hate propaganda against us, and keep a large part of the U. S. army and navy pinned down in a remote and uncomfortable part of the world.

Chinese Stiffen

These are the reasons why the Russian-Chinese axis is not likely to want a truce, and why the Eisenhower mission, barring extreme good luck, is not likely to pave the way for peace.

In fact, Pentagon intelligence summaries which have been sent the President-elect show that the Chinese have been encouraged by the demands of our recent political campaign to withdraw U. S. troops from Korea. As a result, the Chinese are now likely to stiffen their truce terms to include complete U. S. withdrawal from Korea.

So the American public should be prepared for the probability that Ike's chances in Korea are somewhat less good now than they were before the presidential debate started. In effect, his speeches in October probably made more difficult his mission in December.

The lucky break which Eisenhower might possibly get involves a complete change of policy inside the Kremlin, and this will be discussed later.

Troops From Formosa

Barring heaven-sent luck, however, here are some definite results which Eisenhower can score:

A. The use of two, or possibly three, divisions of Chiang Kai-shek's troops on Formosa.

B. Or the equipping of two more divisions of South Korean troops.

C. A definite policy for next spring, probably involving a heavy UN offensive.

Inside fact is that General Mark Clark hadn't been in the Far East more than a month before he began urging that Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa be allowed to fight in Korea. (That is one reason Eisenhower is certain to stop on Formosa, review Nationalist troops and confer with Chiang.)

Clark's recommendation, however, ran squarely up against a counter-recommendation by General Van Fleet that South Koreans be equipped instead.

What most people don't realize is that South Korean and Chinese Nationalists cannot be put into battle at the same time. This is purely a matter of equipment. There just has not been enough equipment for both.

The Pentagon agreed last year that South Korean troops should be put into battle as soon as they could be trained and equipped, and for a time it was even proposed to cut down on the flow of equipment to U. S. troops. This flow requires a 90-day supply constantly en route from the factory to the front, and it was suggested that this be cut to a 45-day supply in order to use extra equipment for South Koreans.

After some solemn arithmetic in the Pentagon, however, it was decided that 90 days was the minimum reserve for U. S. troops.

Gradually, more equipment became available for the ROK's and two more divisions were put into the front line on Oct. 15.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Nationalists have two divisions in fairly good shape, and given new equipment they could be transported to Korea. However, this means slowing up the use of more ROK troops, plus the time of transporting the Nationalists from Formosa, plus the question raised by some strategists as to whether they will fight with the same fervor as the ROK's.

Most Pentagon strategists believe they will, though some point to the heavy surrender of Chiang's forces during the Communist civil war; also point to the opposition of our UN allies to the use of Nationalist troops. The State Department has even predicted, confidentially, that some of our UN allies will pull out of Korea if Nationalist troops are used.

Another worry is that Chinese Communists might celebrate the use of Chiang's troops in Korea by reopening a full-scale war against Chiang on Formosa, thus embroiling our 7th Fleet in a sea and air battle with the formidable Russo-Chinese air force and submarine fleet.

These are some of the extremely difficult problems Eisenhower faces and which he, as commander-in-chief, must decide. It should be remembered, of course, that he can make no decisions until Jan. 20, and that nothing concrete can come of his Korean trip until that time. Its chief advantage will be to give him a firsthand look at the Korean problems which he will face as President of the United States in about six weeks.

(Another column on what faces Eisenhower in Korea will follow shortly.)

Q—Is it true that the Empire State Building sways in a high wind?

A—No, the motion is not appreciable. Tests have shown that it would take a wind of 100 miles per hour, blowing steadily for two hours or more, to cause the building to deviate from the vertical as much as 1.45 inches, measured at the top. Only twice in the past 25 years have winds of this speed been recorded in New York.

Eisenhower Attains Three Goals in Appointing Durkin to Cabinet as Labor Secretary

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 2—Three objectives were achieved by President-elect Eisenhower in appointing Martin P. Durkin to be secretary of Labor.

It is an unwritten law of politics that, if possible, there should be at least one Catholic in the cabinet. It is also considered desirable to appoint a pro-union man to be secretary of labor. It is likewise important to recognize the minority party.

Mr. Durkin is a Catholic, a Democrat who supported Stevenson, and president of the national plumbers union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

In recent years there has been a tendency to avoid appointing either a CIO or an AFL man because of the rivalry between the two labor organizations. Before the split occurred, AFL men were twice appointed three times to the cabinet portfolio known as the Department of Labor. Since it appears that the AFL and CIO may unite soon, the fact that an AFL leader was chosen is not likely to set up any new antagonism from the CIO.

The President-elect has certainly shown excellent judgment in appointing Mr. Durkin. It means that union labor will have direct access to the White House. It means also that the new President will have at his elbow a man who can tell him how labor will react to various proposals of public policy. Likewise, General Eisenhower will have a spokesman who can interpret the views of his administration to labor and the public.

A cabinet is supposed to be representative of a variety of interests. Certainly the appointment of Sinclair Weeks of Boston to be secretary of commerce brings to the cabinet a man who knows the background of business and finance. So also does George Humphrey, the new secretary of the treasury, whose experience has been in large industries.

Now that the entire cabinet has been selected, it may be said that it represents a balance as between political as well as economic viewpoints.

John Foster Dulles reflects the international-cooperation doctrines of American policy from the time the Republican administration of 1920 entered into a naval-limitation agreement and a treaty outlawing war.

Charles E. Wilson reflects the new approach to the main problem of the defense department, which is to eliminate waste and get production of armament from business and industry going on an efficient basis. It is a business rather than a military job.

Herbert Brownell is one of the ablest lawyers in the country, and his willingness to take the portfolio of attorney general is a welcome sign of the sacrifices being made today by successful men to go into government service.

Ezra Taft Benson is an experienced and trained agricultural expert, and his selection as secretary of agriculture has been hailed by farm organizations as an excellent choice.

Governor Douglas McKay of Oregon, who is to become secretary of the Interior, knows the problems of reclamation and development of natural resources, particularly from the western viewpoint.

Arthur Summerfield, a successful business man, will, as postmaster general, give the American people a businesslike administration of the postal service.

All in all, the President-elect has picked his own men on the basis of merit. Where he has made his selections, he has not looked for pro-Taft or pro-Dewey men as such but has sought out the ablest men, and it so happens that both wings of the Republican Party have representation.

Probably the appointment of the new secretary of labor will come as the biggest surprise. For here a Democrat who didn't support Eisenhower is given a cabinet post of far-reaching importance. It will be noted that Mr. Durkin served the Democratic administration of Governor Horner in Illinois as state labor director and he helped to establish and manage a health and accident division, an unemployment compensation system, and a state conciliation and mediation service. This means he probably will ask that the U. S. Conciliation Service go back to the Department of Labor, though Congress will finally decide that question.

It is a good cabinet—one of the best in the last 50 years. It is a cabinet of men who have been successful in their vocations—men who bring to the government service both ability and integrity.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Repartee and controversy in politics and related fields had been waged in restrained, even stately terms, for a long time before the Roosevelt Democrats came to power in 1933. Roosevelt was a personal sissy, or mama's boy, who seemed to have learned some earthy expressions from the coachman's children down behind the barn and to have cherished a desire all the years to ride in the smoker amongst the men and try his verboten vocabulary. He gratified this with awkward and tell-tale abandon when he became President, expressing himself, sometimes, through the agency of Charlie Michelson, a sardonic old professional heckler who originated the organized smear with Herbert Hoover and "respectability" as the primary victims. To be honest, our political contentions had become so formal that the public, as a whole, enjoyed thinking of Hoover and Coolidge as stuffed shirts, a derisive term which actually referred to men who were gentle men though politicians.

In the Roosevelt-Truman era we went, as the British put it in one of their singularly vapid gems, "all out." Roosevelt had an affinity for rapscallions who were swine in their domestic affairs, Hopkins and Ickes, for flagrant examples, though some of his own loved ones would do. A circle with such a low concept of morals felt an instinctive envy and hatred of genteel men and ladies of good speech and morals. Instinctively they undertook to bring the public standard down to their own level, leaving decency beached high and dry on a more and more lonely shore.

The personal influence exerted on this development in American culture by magnates of the press has been important and deleterious. Publicists who maintained the traditional, inconspicuous decency refrained from criticizing influential colleagues whose personal conduct was shockingly bad according to the normal American moral standards lest they seem sanctimonious, perhaps lest indiscretion of their own come out or for a variety of other deterrent reasons. At any rate, our press certainly did default in a moral change which swept over us unchallenged. Men and women of the grossest flagrancy occupied high public office and ran great propaganda powers directing the weak cerebrations of a people who thus were set to yapping and snapping and honking angry opinions on synthetic problems that they knew absolutely nothing about.

Polygamy was not indorsed as such but chain marriage became a fad. The question "why does the poor fool marry them?" was asked in open amusement whenever a Tommy Manville took another recruit to spouse. Manville was said to have remarked that he had a set rate of alimony, indicating that he insisted on agreement as a condition of marriage.

Of late, but only of late and only in the feeblest voices, a few Catholic priests and Protestant ministers have been resisting a church policy which befriends a regime professing great love of the common people without stipulating, however, that the morale example of that regime has been bad and must not be accepted in a package-deal to a prelate with political objectives in view, however noble they may be, the question must occur whether he may intentionally refrain from warning his flock to reject the personal, non-political examples of the dignitaries of the favored regime.

There have been historic precedents of the very problem that has been passing before our consciousness. In some of them, vicars of Christ on earth have held their tongues for reasons which may, in charity, be construed as noble but always in the end, with discredit to themselves and temporary misfortune to the career of religion among humanity. It is especially unfortunate that the few conspicuous opponents of this immorality were mountebanks and scamps whose obvious purpose was not to vindicate and rescue morality but to destroy the New Deal and the Truman extension of the same thing which was known by the banal name of the Fair Deal. Gerald L. K Smith, for example, may be truly moral but his purpose, if it be moral, is badly compromised by collateral motives.

It is worthy of note that the individual close to Truman who was worst abused in general but never in specific terms by Truman's political opponents, Harry Vaughan, was a man of exemplary deportment on his home grounds in Washington throughout his ordeal. He even taught a Bible class, not just fitfully and for the record, but regularly for years. In the absence of the slightest charge to the contrary after minute search of his affairs, I willingly take it that he was not a grafter beyond the value of the deplorable deep-freeze and a few other trifles which a Roosevelt would spurn as a bell-hop spurns a devalued dime, and for the same reason.

Truman himself, though his personal history has been searched, comes out of it all a clean man. Those who would dismiss this virtue as a personal foible of no public importance may be suspected of ulterior reasons. His wife has been polite and as inconspicuous as she could make herself. His daughter, under temptations which corrupted the deportment of contemporary belles of similar station, has been a lady, spirited but proper. If it be argued, and it is, that Mrs. Truman kept the appointed place of the wife of a president because she lacked the equipment which Mrs. Roosevelt employed to create her artful career, let it be said in justice also that Mrs. Roosevelt lacked the honesty and goodness which restrained her successor from excesses.

Committee Seeks $150,000 to Run Eisenhower Office

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—A committee has been formed to raise about $150,000 to cover the operating expenses of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters until his Jan. 20 inauguration, seven weeks away.

The Republican National Committee now is meeting the expenses.

Organization of the fund-raising committee was announced yesterday by Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), who said the headquarters is costing $20,000 a week.

The financial situation has arisen, Scott told newsmen, because there is no law appropriating funds to maintain the office of a President-elect until his inauguration.

"On advice of counsel, we are avoiding a direct appeal for funds," Scott said.

A reporter asked about the size of contributions sought, and Scott replied: "Glad to have anything from $1 up."

Eisenhower's headquarters in the Commodore Hotel has 43 offices and a staff of between 90 and 100. The mail received averages 2,000 letters a day.

When today's hand was played in the recent Metropolitan Tournament in New York, South managed to make his contract with an overtrick. Since the entire point of the play hinges on the overtrick, perhaps I had better say a word about tournament bridge.

If you play the South hand at three no-trump in ordinary rubber bridge, you try to make nine tricks and you're not concerned about the ease or difficulty of making ten tricks. In a tournament, however, it's just as important to try for the tenth trick as it is to make the contract.

In a tournament, like the National Tournament now being held in Miami, you have to play each hand for the best possible score no matter what the risks may be.

When today's hand was played East took the first trick with the ace of diamonds, and West made the mistake of winning the second trick with the king of diamonds. This mistake gave declarer his chance to play for a tenth trick.

South won the third of diamonds with dummy's queen, entered his hand with the king of spades, and finessed dummy's ten of spades.

This finesse lost to East's queen, but East was out of diamonds and couldn't enter the West hand with the proverbial crowbar.

East hopefully returned a club, but this gave South a chance to take a free finessee with the ten of clubs. Declarer therefore won four clubs, one diamond, two hearts, and three spades for a total of ten tricks.

South would have been held to nine tricks if West had simply refused to win the second trick with his king of diamonds. This would have left East with a diamond that he could lead when he got in with the queen of spades. The defenders would therefore get three diamonds and a spade instead of only two diamonds and a spade.

Committee Seeks $150,000 to Run Eisenhower Office

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—A committee has been formed to raise about $150,000 to cover the operating expenses of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters until his Jan. 20 inauguration, seven weeks away.

The Republican National Committee now is meeting the expenses.

Organization of the fund-raising committee was announced yesterday by Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), who said the headquarters is costing $20,000 a week.

The financial situation has arisen, Scott told newsmen, because there is no law appropriating funds to maintain the office of a President-elect until his inauguration.

"On advice of counsel, we are avoiding a direct appeal for funds," Scott said.

A reporter asked about the size of contributions sought, and Scott replied: "Glad to have anything from $1 up."

Eisenhower's headquarters in the Commodore Hotel has 43 offices and a staff of between 90 and 100. The mail received averages 2,000 letters a day.

Trans-Atlantic 'Plugging'

New York (AP) — Trans-Atlantic travel is getting so common these days that a New York hotel and two London cafes have started "plugging" each other's establishments. Patrons of the New York hotel headed by Irwin H. Kramer, see cards in the lobby recommending that they visit Harry Meadow's two cafes when in London. Meadows reciprocates by advertising the hotel's merits in his cafes.

When today's hand was played in the recent Metropolitan Tournament in New York, South managed to make his contract with an overtrick. Since the entire point of the play hinges on the overtrick, perhaps I had better say a word about tournament bridge.

If you play the South hand at three no-trump in ordinary rubber bridge, you try to make nine tricks and you're not concerned about the ease or difficulty of making ten tricks. In a tournament, however, it's just as important to try for the tenth trick as it is to make the contract.

In a tournament, like the National Tournament now being held in Miami, you have to play each hand for the best possible score no matter what the risks may be.

When today's hand was played East took the first trick with the ace of diamonds, and West made the mistake of winning the second trick with the king of diamonds. This mistake gave declarer his chance to play for a tenth trick.

South won the third of diamonds with dummy's queen, entered his hand with the king of spades, and finessed dummy's ten of spades.

This finesse lost to East's queen, but East was out of diamonds and couldn't enter the West hand with the proverbial crowbar.

East hopefully returned a club, but this gave South a chance to take a free finessee with the ten of clubs. Declarer therefore won four clubs, one diamond, two hearts, and three spades for a total of ten tricks.

South would have been held to nine tricks if West had simply refused to win the second trick with his king of diamonds. This would have left East with a diamond that he could lead when he got in with the queen of spades. The defenders would therefore get three diamonds and a spade instead of only two diamonds and a spade.

New Harbor for India

Bombay (AP)—A Geman engineer who ruled the French Atlantic and Mediterranean ports during World War II is directing the construction of a new $27,300,000 harbor in India's Gulf of Cutch. He is 54-year-old Dr. H. A. Gerdes. His job is to build tiny Kandla, an almost unknown town in far Western India into a harbor which will cut 200 miles off the transfer distances from the sea to New Delhi and other northern cities.

Asian Pilots Needed

Singapore (AP)—The Malayan Auxiliary Air Force is short of Asians of a high educational standard to train as pilots, Air Marshal A. C. Sanderson told the Ex-Servicemen's Association of Singapore. Sanderson made an appeal to ex-instructors of the RAF to come forward and help in the training of the young pilots who will form the nucleus of the air force in the future independent Malaya.

Douglas Praises Malaya

Kuala, Lumpur, Malaya (AP)—U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, after one week of his two-week tour of guerrilla-plagued Malaya, said he was impressed that even Communist rebels who killed without reason get a fair trial in British court. Justice Douglas said he felt that the top command of the Malayan guerrillas was distinctly Communist in character. When he returns to the United States, Justice Douglas declared, he would tell his people that Malaya was one of the free nations of the world upholding the flag of democracy.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD S. THIBAUT, Jr.

Sweaters Are Needed By Children in Korea

Woodstock, Dec. 2—The long, unbelievably cold winter in Korea has set in and already thousands of children are freezing. In an attempt to fill this urgent need, the Woodstock Auxiliary of American Legion Post 1026 has begun a project of knitting sweaters for the children of Korea. Anyone interested in contributing sweaters is asked to call Mrs. Fennell Franckling, child welfare chairman for details.

The sweaters, according to Mrs. Franckling should be made of substantial warm wool, in sizes three to 16, and only of the slip-over design. No cardigans can be used. The sweaters may be of any color, and may even be made of scraps of multi-colored wool—in Korea the children simply need sweaters! However, one specification has been made. Above each cuff there must be knitted a three-quarter inch band of a contrasting color.

People who do not knit may donate wool, or ready-knit sweaters if they wish, and those who knit, but do not possess the necessary wool, may call Mrs. Franckling to obtain wool from auxiliary members.

The need is urgent, and the winter is already far advanced in Korea. Just one sweater will help to keep some youngster warm.

Two Actions Start Over Leaky Tank

At the opening of Supreme Court Monday afternoon two actions to recover damages as the result of an alleged leaking gasoline tank were taken up for trial before Justice Elsworth and a jury.

The actions are brought by Raymond Coles and Anthony Aulisio and Lena Aulisio against The California Oil Company and others for negligence which it is claimed arose over improper installation of gasoline pumps. Also named as defendants is P. S. Potter & Sons, Inc., California oil dealers and distributors, and Raymond Bunaro of Newburgh who installed the tanks and pumps. Potter & Sons bring a third party action against Bunaro asking that any judgment which may result in the matter against them be against Bunaro as installer.

Coles is represented by Benjamin P. Roosa, The California Oil Company by Mr. Owens of Dwight, Harris, Koegel and Caskey. Anthony Aulisio and Lena Aulisio are represented by Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman. P. S. Potter & Sons, Inc., are represented by Abraham Streifer and Raymond Bunaro by Robert Ortale.

Alleges Well Is Spoiled

Plaintiff Coles alleges that his property adjoining the Aulisio gas station on route 9-W just north of the East Chester by-pass was damaged when gasoline leaked from the tanks and saturated his land and contaminated his well. The Aulisios claim they have been damaged because of the leakage and sue California Oil Company and P. S. Potter & Sons, Inc., distributors. In their cross complaint they ask that California Oil Company and Potter be held responsible for any damages which Coles may have suffered.

The case was continued during the afternoon session and again today.

11 Cases Settled

Eleven cases were marked settled and one was stricken from the calendar on the first call Monday afternoon. Justice Elsworth, after making up the day calendar, announced that there would be no additions to the day calendar until next Monday when the second call will take place.

Cases settled were:

No. 211, The People of the State of New York against Lewis J. Hallenbeck, recovery of penalty for violation of Conservation Law. N. L. Goldstein for plaintiff and William E. Riseley for defendant.

No. 116, Mae Ryan against Barbolo Liccardo and others, negligence. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and James G. Connelly for defendant.

TWO ACTIONS —3

Prior to making up a day calendar Justice Elsworth announced the cases would be called twice and if passed a second time would go over the term. The next call will be Monday at 11 o'clock.

Reed to Propose Income Tax Cut About 11 Per Cent

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—An 11 per cent cut in individual income taxes and elimination of the excess profits tax on corporations will be proposed as soon as the new Congress convenes next month, Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R.-N.Y.) said today.

Reed is in line to become chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which originates all revenue measures.

His proposal calls for a reduction of slightly more than 5 per cent in individual income taxes next year and a similar reduction in 1954, for a total cut of about 11 per cent.

The 1951 tax bill raised individual rates by 10 to 11 per cent. The increase will expire automatically Dec. 31, 1953, unless Congress orders otherwise. The excess profits tax is due to go off the books next June 30.

Reed said he anticipates bi-partisan support for his bill, which he called "the first step in the Republican tax and spending reduction program."

Reed made no direct reference to speeding up the termination of two other 1951 increases—in corporation income taxes and various excise levies. These are now due to expire automatically April 1, 1954.

Rash of Shattered Glass Is Reported In City on Monday

Glass took a beating around the city yesterday from an apple, a broom stick and a slingshot.

At 4:25 p. m. the police department received a call from the New York Bakery on East Union street reporting that someone had just thrown a broom stick through a window pane. Officers Frank Sammons and James Burns, who investigated, reported that the damage had been done by a boy and that the boy's guardian had been notified and had made restitution.

At 4:35 p. m. police received a call that an unknown person had thrown an apple which had struck the plate glass window in a store at 167 Hasbrouck avenue. Officers Sammons and Burns reported that no apparent damage had been done other than juice that splattered the window.

Police were notified at 4:38 p. m. that someone had shot out a window at 20 Newkirk avenue. Officers Sammons and Burns reported that the window had been broken by a boy with at slingshot, that the boy had been identified and his mother informed of the incident.

Officer Charles Hoehing reported at 2:05 a. m. today that a window had been broken out in Troy's warehouse on East Strand.

Mill Is Damaged

At 4:44 p. m. a notation was entered in the police "blotter" that for the past few days there had been considerable damage to windows and doors of the Deyo Cider Mill on Flatbush avenue. Members of the force were instructed to make careful checks of the property.

At 5:15 p. m. it was noted on the "blotter" that the department had received complaints about writing on the walls of the Broadway underpass and that such defacing of public walls also occurred in other parts of the city, especially in the uptown section. Chief Raymond Van Buren ordered all men and cars to check and restrain such activity.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD S. THIBAUT, Jr.

Sweaters Are Needed By Children in Korea

Woodstock, Dec. 2—The long, unbelievably cold winter in Korea has set in and already thousands of children are freezing. In an attempt to fill this urgent need, the Woodstock Auxiliary of American Legion Post 1026 has begun a project of knitting sweaters for the children of Korea. Anyone interested in contributing sweaters is asked to call Mrs. Fennell Franckling, child welfare chairman for details.

The sweaters, according to Mrs. Franckling should be made of substantial warm wool, in sizes three to 16, and only of the slip-over design. No cardigans can be used. The sweaters may be of any color, and may even be made of scraps of multi-colored wool—in Korea the children simply need sweaters! However, one specification has been made. Above each cuff there must be knitted a three-quarter inch band of a contrasting color.

People who do not knit may donate wool, or ready-knit sweaters if they wish, and those who knit, but do not possess the necessary wool, may call Mrs. Franckling to obtain wool from auxiliary members.

The need is urgent, and the winter is already far advanced in Korea. Just one sweater will help to keep some youngster warm.

Two Actions Start Over Leaky Tank

At the opening of Supreme Court Monday afternoon two actions to recover damages as the result of an alleged leaking gasoline tank were taken up for trial before Justice Elsworth and a jury.

The actions are brought by Raymond Coles and Anthony Aulisio and Lena Aulisio against The California Oil Company and others for negligence which it is claimed arose over improper installation of gasoline pumps. Also named as defendants is P. S. Potter & Sons, Inc., California oil dealers and distributors, and Raymond Bunaro of Newburgh who installed the tanks and pumps. Potter & Sons bring a third party action against Bunaro asking that any judgment which may result in the matter against them be against Bunaro as installer.

Coles is represented by Benjamin P. Roosa, The California Oil Company by Mr. Owens of Dwight, Harris, Koegel and Caskey. Anthony Aulisio and Lena Aulisio are represented by Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman. P. S. Potter & Sons, Inc., are represented by Abraham Streifer and Raymond Bunaro by Robert Ortale.

Alleges Well Is Spoiled

Plaintiff Coles alleges that his property adjoining the Aulisio gas station on route 9-W just north of the East Chester by-pass was damaged when gasoline leaked from the tanks and saturated his land and contaminated his well. The Aulisios claim they have been damaged because of the leakage and sue California Oil Company and P. S. Potter & Sons, Inc., distributors. In their cross complaint they ask that California Oil Company and Potter be held responsible for any damages which Coles may have suffered.

The case was continued during the afternoon session and again today.

11 Cases Settled

Eleven cases were marked settled and one was stricken from the calendar on the first call Monday afternoon. Justice Elsworth, after making up the day calendar, announced that there would be no additions to the day calendar until next Monday when the second call will take place.

Cases settled were:

No. 211, The People of the State of New York against Lewis J. Hallenbeck, recovery of penalty for violation of Conservation Law, N. L. Goldstein for plaintiff and William E. Riseley for defendant.

No. 116, Mae Ryan against Barbolo Liccardo and others, negligence. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and James G. Connelly for defendant.

No. 120, Joan A. Winne, an infant, vs. Stanley Poudzinas, negligence. Charles H. Gaffney for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant.

No. 130, George Fuhrmann, an infant etc., against Leo M. Mazzola, negligence. Michael Nardone for plaintiff. Rusk & Rusk for defendant.

No. 138, Morris Scheinman and another vs. Herman Relp, negligence. L. B. Scheinman for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant. No. 139, Morris Scheinman and another vs. Ladenheim Garage, Inc., negligence. L. B. Scheinman for plaintiff and Cashin & Ewig for defendant.

TWO ACTIONS —3

Nos. 142 and 143, Shirley Norton, an infant, vs. John G. Norton and Robert E. Norton, as administrator, etc., against John G. Norton, negligence. N. LeVan Haver for plaintiff and Albert E. Schober for defendant.

No. 153, Adirondack Transit Lines, Inc., vs. Bermuda U Drive, Inc., negligence. Rusk & Rusk for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendants.

No. 159, The New York Central Railroad Company vs. Samuel Kreisberg and another, work, labor and services and material. Harry H. Flemming for plaintiff and Cashin & Ewig for defendant.

An action for separation brought by Agnes Darwak against Frank Darwak was stricken from the calendar. William A. Kaercher for plaintiff and Raymond J. Mino for defendant.

Prior to making up a day calendar Justice Elsworth announced the cases would be called twice and if passed a second time would go over the term. The next call will be Monday at 11 o'clock.

An extra panel of 15 jurors was summoned to be in attendance at court today at 10 a. m.

Reed to Propose Income Tax Cut About 11 Per Cent

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—An 11 per cent cut in individual income taxes and elimination of the excess profits tax on corporations will be proposed as soon as the new Congress convenes next month, Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R.-N.Y.) said today.

Reed is in line to become chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which originates all revenue measures.

His proposal calls for a reduction of slightly more than 5 per cent in individual income taxes next year and a similar reduction in 1954, for a total cut of about 11 per cent.

The 1951 tax bill raised individual rates by 10 to 11 per cent. The increase will expire automatically Dec. 31, 1953, unless Congress orders otherwise. The excess profits tax is due to go off the books next June 30.

Reed said he anticipates bi-partisan support for his bill, which he called "the first step in the Republican tax and spending reduction program."

Reed made no direct reference to speeding up the termination of two other 1951 increases—in corporation income taxes and various excise levies. These are now due to expire automatically April 1, 1954.

New York Gets Snow

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The New York metropolitan area had a decorative snowfall today. Only pessimists pulled on galoshes and began looking for last year's shovel, for the Weather Bureau said it would turn to rain. It was still snowing in mid-morning, however. Sand trucks were out in the suburbs to aid motorists on slippery hills. Incoming airplane flights were slightly delayed. The snow began falling at 7:20 a. m. Temperatures hovered just above freezing.

Reporter Puts Sharp Eye On Freeman Columns, Finds 1,172 Names in Nov. 10 Issue

(What does your paper give you? Reporter John Warren the other day created a task for himself, as the following account to the city desk reveals. For an "inside" into the inside of The Freeman, read the following. Perhaps parts of it will amaze you. At least you will realize the routine day on a news desk carries something—news, names, variety.)

Dear Boss:

The other day, just for fun, I decided to take a few minutes and count the number of names of persons in items of local origin in an issue—any issue—of The Freeman. I picked at random Monday, November 10.

How many names do you suppose I found? Exactly 1,172. Am sending you this report because I thought it might be interesting to know just how many names there were—they say names make news. Then, too, I had to write something to ease my conscience, since counting the names proved to be more of a task than I had figured, and took more time than I had planned.

A lot of people say you never get your name in the paper unless you get in trouble. However, the names in social items, correspondence and similar news far outnumbered those in police and court items.

How Total Figured

This is the way the total broke down: "Country correspondence" led the total with 636 separate names, as follows—Kerhonkson, 35; Port Ewen, 70; Highland, 86; Sawkill, 80; Ellenville, 138; Wallkill, 71; New Paltz, 77; Shokan, 47, and Napanoch, 32.

The sports page contained 100 local names, exclusive of score tabulations. Counting bowling score tabulations and a football game boxscore, there were a total of 273 names.

There were 88 names mentioned on the social page. This includes 44 persons involved in three weddings—brides, grooms, their parents, honor attendants, ushers, bridesmaids, clergymen, organists, soloists.

Alive in Obit Column

In addition to the names of seven deceased persons in the obituary column, there were 36 living persons named, including survivors, clergymen, and bearers.

There was a column of Kingston High School news, listing 60 names. A feature about local schools had 21 names in the text and 12 persons identified in two pictures.

A city court story listed 10 names, including those of the judge and four attorneys in addition to the defendants and plaintiffs, or complainants. A sheriff's office story listed six names.

Nine individuals were named in a list of donations to the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital four in the Twenty and Ten Years Ago item, four in news of local activities other than social, and six in other miscellaneous news.

No Double Counting

Only names definitely identified were counted. "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe and daughter, Nancy," was counted as three. But, "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe and children," was only counted as two, since the children couldn't be readily identified. One person's name mentioned more than once in an article, of course, was only counted once. Names of out-of-town persons visiting in the county were counted, but names of nationally prominent persons listed as speakers in local meetings were not counted.

Had 14 Pages Only

The issue used was a 14-page issue and probably contained fewer names than many other issues. There were no real big local news stories that day, no court calendar, no list of births, or other unusual items. It was, in short, just an average or even a below average day from the news standpoint. Associated Press dispatches were not counted.

I thought, perhaps, there might be an unusually high amount of "country correspondence" in that issue, but a quick check of other papers of the week showed it was more or less average. Thursday's paper, for instance, contained news from New Hurley, Pataukunk, Tillson, Wallkill, Mt. Tremper, Woodstock, Accord, Ellenville, Kerhonkson and Highland.

Numerically yours,

JW

Robbed 100 Hotel Rooms

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—A 24-year-old waiter, police say, admits robbing more than 100 hotel rooms in 18 months just by walking into the hotel and asking the clerk for the key to any particular room that popped into his head. The waiter was identified as Murray Meckler, married and the father of a new-born baby. Detectives, who arrested him on burglary charges yesterday, said they had been on his trail for weeks. They said he looted rooms of thousands of dollars worth of jewelry, clothing and other items and then blew the proceeds on horses and cards.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., TUESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 2, 1952. NINE

Luminous Tape Is Put on 400 Cars

Reporting that to date 400 drivers have applied Lite a Bumper illuminated tape to protect their cars from road hazards, Marvin Millens, distribution chairman for the Junior Chamber of Commerce, said that supplies are being left at various service stations throughout the city.

"We are extermely pleased to see the motorists of Kingston availing themselves of the opportunity to purchase this luminous tape," said Charles Jones, president of the Junior Chamber. "We hope to eventually see this Scotuch lite on every car in Kingston."

The Jaycees are promoting sale of the tape to help make streets and highways safer for traffic.

Those desiring to purchase the luminous tape, which helps take the hazards out of driving in weather with poor visibility, may procure it at:

New York Gets Snow

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The New York metropolitan area had a decorative snowfall today. Only pessimists pulled on galoshes and began looking for last year's shovel, for the Weather Bureau said it would turn to rain. It was still snowing in mid-morning, however. Sand trucks were out in the suburbs to aid motorists on slippery hills. Incoming airplane flights were slightly delayed. The snow began falling at 7:20 a. m. Temperatures hovered just above freezing.

Reporter Puts Sharp Eye On Freeman Columns, Finds 1,172 Names in Nov. 10 Issue

(What does your paper give you? Reporter John Warren the other day created a task for himself, as the following account to the city desk reveals. For an "inside" into the inside of The Freeman, read the following. Perhaps parts of it will amaze you. At least you will realize the routine day on a news desk carries something—news, names, variety.)

Dear Boss:

The other day, just for fun, I decided to take a few minutes and count the number of names of persons in items of local origin in an issue—any issue—of The Freeman. I picked at random Monday, November 10.

How many names do you suppose I found? Exactly 1,172. Am sending you this report because I thought it might be interesting to know just how many names there were—they say names make news. Then, too, I had to write something to ease my conscience, since counting the names proved to be more of a task than I had figured, and took more time than I had planned.

A lot of people say you never get your name in the paper unless you get in trouble. However, the names in social items, correspondence and similar news far outnumbered those in police and court items.

How Total Figured

This is the way the total broke down: "Country correspondence" led the total with 636 separate names, as follows—Kerhonkson, 35; Port Ewen, 70; Highland, 86; Sawkill, 80; Ellenville, 138; Wallkill, 71; New Paltz, 77; Shokan, 47, and Napanoch, 32.

The sports page contained 100 local names, exclusive of score tabulations. Counting bowling score tabulations and a football game boxscore, there were a total of 273 names.

There were 88 names mentioned on the social page. This includes 44 persons involved in three weddings—brides, grooms, their parents, honor attendants, ushers, bridesmaids, clergymen, organists, soloists.

Alive in Obit Column

In addition to the names of seven deceased persons in the obituary column, there were 36 living persons named, including survivors, clergymen, and bearers.

There was a column of Kingston High School news, listing 60 names. A feature about local schools had 21 names in the text and 12 persons identified in two pictures.

A city court story listed 10 names, including those of the judge and four attorneys in addition to the defendants and plaintiffs, or complainants. A sheriff's office story listed six names.

Nine individuals were named in a list of donations to the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital. four in the Twenty and Ten Years Ago item, four in news of local activities other than social, and six in other miscellaneous news.

No Double Counting

Only names definitely identified were counted. "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe and daughter, Nancy," was counted as three. But, "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe and children," was only counted as two, since the children couldn't be readily identified. One person's name mentioned more than once in an article, of course, was only counted once. Names of out-of-town persons visiting in the county were counted, but names of nationally prominent persons listed as speakers in local meetings were not counted.

Had 14 Pages Only

The issue used was a 14-page issue and probably contained fewer names than many other issues. There were no real big local news stories that day, no court calendar, no list of births, or other unusual items. It was, in short, just an average or even a below average day from the news standpoint. Associated Press dispatches were not counted.

I thought, perhaps, there might be an unusually high amount of "country correspondence" in that issue, but a quick check of other papers of the week showed it was more or less average. Thursday's paper, for instance, contained news from New Hurley, Pataukunk, Tillson, Wallkill, Mt. Tremper, Woodstock, Accord, Ellenville, Kerhonkson and Highland.

Numerically yours,

JW

Robbed 100 Hotel Rooms

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—A 24-year-old waiter, police say, admits robbing more than 100 hotel rooms in 18 months just by walking into the hotel and asking the clerk for the key to any particular room that popped into his head. The waiter was identified as Murray Meckler, married and the father of a new-born baby. Detectives, who arrested him on burglary charges yesterday, said they had been on his trail for weeks. They said he looted rooms of thousands of dollars worth of jewelry, clothing and other items and then blew the proceeds on horses and cards.

Collection for War Relief

St. Mary's Parochial students are shown bringing in gifts for the war victims in Korea, the Near East, the Far East and Europe in the Thanksgiving collecton now being taken in Catholic parishes in Ulster county. The local phase of the campaign, which is sponsored nationally by the War Relief Services, National Catholic Welfare Conference, aims at 500,000 pounds of wearing clothing and shoes for the relief of more than 10,000,000 refugees and expellees in war-ravaged countries. Money also is needed for the purchase of food and medicines. Shown, left to right, are Jennifer Miller and Frank Spadafora and Martha Jean Fitzgerald, Mary Ann Richards, John Woods, Marian Wolf, John Conling and Eugene Van Steenburgh. (Freeman Photo)

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

James Finnerty of 612 Delaware avenue, an old time fireman on the old night boats I mentioned the other day came over to tell me about his experience. He said, at the time he used to receive $1 per day, the trip covered from Newburgh to Troy. They would leave Newburgh at 7:30 a. m. then they would have to unload and load up at Troy and come back to Albany before they earned the dollar bill. That was around 10 p. m. It was on the old Tremper. But he said he ate better and lived just as good in those days. He could buy a pair of overalls for 35 cents. But when he worked on the James W. Baldwin or Romer he really received good pay, it was $1.06 a day. He was also a fireman on the old Mary Powell for $30 a month, that was around 1916.

The New York Historical Society, who has open public exhibition at their 170 Central Park West Museum often sends interesting items. This time it is all about presidential elections. It starts from the time that Washington refused a third term. Some of the slogans interest me. I see the "full dinner pail" came up in 1900 when President McKinley and William Jennings Bryan were going to town. Then Rough Rider Teddy Roosevelt of Spanish American war fame came up. It said, "TR's personality and fighting campaign speeches matched Bryan's silver tongued oratory. (McKinley won the election but was assassinated in 1901 and Teddy Roosevelt became president).

Teddy Roosevelt then ran on his own in 1904 and won against our Ulster county nominee Judge Alton B. Parker. In 1908 President Roosevelt kept his promise not to run for reelection and gave his support to William Howard Taft. Further down the line it mentions "World War 1 broke out in August of 1914, and the USA remained neutral during Wilson's first administration. He was re-elected on the slogan, "He kept us out of War." The Republicans had New York state's Charles Evans Hughes who resigned from the Supreme Court and made a dignified campaign tour.

Coming to 1924 some 15 and 3 quarter million voters expressed their desire to "Keep cool with Coolidge." In 1928, "Coolidge did not choose to run" Herbert Hoover, the competent War Food Administrator was victorious over "the Happy Warrior" Al Smith. Gov. Smith campaigned vigorously, and his brown derby became known across the continent during that campaign. A special exhibit at the museum is called Hats in the Ring. They have a fur cap of Thomas Jefferson's when the coonskin was popular. The third president, wore his cap, fur-side in. Then the high crown Daniel Webster straw is there. Top hats worn by Andrew Jackson, James Garfield and Grover Cleveland, and a "stove-pipe" of the Lincoln era. It was Teddy Roosevelt who made the slogan up and famous. "My hat is in the ring" and of course his Rough Rider hat is there, as well as Al Smith's brown derby.

Singapore (AP) — People in Britain and the United States will be receiving Chinese delicacies and fruits as Christmas gifts from friends in Singapore. A Chinese canning company is putting up parcels containing preserved ginger, chow chow, cumquats, pig's legs, and pickled vegetables for any Commonwealth country or the United States. The concern reports a steady stream of orders.

Collection for War Relief

St. Mary's Parochial students are shown bringing in gifts for the war victims in Korea, the Near East, the Far East and Europe in the Thanksgiving collecton now being taken in Catholic parishes in Ulster county. The local phase of the campaign, which is sponsored nationally by the War Relief Services, National Catholic Welfare Conference, aims at 500,000 pounds of wearing clothing and shoes for the relief of more than 10,000,000 refugees and expellees in war-ravaged countries. Money also is needed for the purchase of food and medicines. Shown, left to right, are Jennifer Miller and Frank Spadafora and Martha Jean Fitzgerald, Mary Ann Richards, John Woods, Marian Wolf, John Conling and Eugene Van Steenburgh. (Freeman Photo)

Police Dog Finds Wallet

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

James Finnerty of 612 Delaware avenue, an old time fireman on the old night boats I mentioned the other day came over to tell me about his experience. He said, at the time he used to receive $1 per day, the trip covered from Newburgh to Troy. They would leave Newburgh at 7:30 a. m. then they would have to unload and load up at Troy and come back to Albany before they earned the dollar bill. That was around 10 p. m. It was on the old Tremper. But he said he ate better and lived just as good in those days. He could buy a pair of overalls for 35 cents. But when he worked on the James W. Baldwin or Romer he really received good pay, it was $1.06 a day. He was also a fireman on the old Mary Powell for $30 a month, that was around 1916.

The New York Historical Society, who has open public exhibition at their 170 Central Park West Museum often sends interesting items. This time it is all about presidential elections. It starts from the time that Washington refused a third term. Some of the slogans interest me. I see the "full dinner pail" came up in 1900 when President McKinley and William Jennings Bryan were going to town. Then Rough Rider Teddy Roosevelt of Spanish American war fame came up. It said, "TR's personality and fighting campaign speeches matched Bryan's silver tongued oratory. (McKinley won the election but was assassinated in 1901 and Teddy Roosevelt became president).

Teddy Roosevelt then ran on his own in 1904 and won against our Ulster county nominee Judge Alton B. Parker. In 1908 President Roosevelt kept his promise not to run for reelection and gave his support to William Howard Taft. Further down the line it mentions "World War 1 broke out in August of 1914, and the USA remained neutral during Wilson's first administration. He was re-elected on the slogan, "He kept us out of War." The Republicans had New York state's Charles Evans Hughes who resigned from the Supreme Court and made a dignified campaign tour.

Coming to 1924 some 15 and 3 quarter million voters expressed their desire to "Keep cool with Coolidge." In 1928, "Coolidge did not choose to run" Herbert Hoover, the competent War Food Administrator was victorious over "the Happy Warrior" Al Smith. Gov. Smith campaigned vigorously, and his brown derby became known across the continent during that campaign. A special exhibit at the museum is called Hats in the Ring. They have a fur cap of Thomas Jefferson's when the coonskin was popular. The third president, wore his cap, fur-side in. Then the high crown Daniel Webster straw is there. Top hats worn by Andrew Jackson, James Garfield and Grover Cleveland, and a "stove-pipe" of the Lincoln era. It was Teddy Roosevelt who made the slogan up and famous, "My hat is in the ring" and of course his Rough Rider hat is there, as well as Al Smith's brown derby.

Chinese Delicacies

Singapore (AP) — People in Britain and the United States will be receiving Chinese delicacies and fruits as Christmas gifts from friends in Singapore. A Chinese canning company is putting up parcels containing preserved ginger, chow chow, cumquats, pig's legs, and pickled vegetables for any Commonwealth country or the United States. The concern reports a steady stream of orders.

Fortune Is Given to Nuns

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—A $2,325,000 fortune has been given an order of Roman Catholic nuns pledged to lives of poverty and service. The "Poor Sisters of St. Francis Seraph" were among a dozen beneficiaries named yesterday for portions of $2,750,000 remaining from the estate of the late Marguerite S. Davis, who died in 1948. She inherited millions from her first husband, James S. Hill, a railroad heir, and left most of the money to her second and surviving husband, Blevins Davis.

New Delhi (AP) — An Indian newspaper takes issue with pollster George Gallup's view that Americans are "intellectually immature." School 5 Chorus To Sing Thursday

A mixed chorus of 90 children's voices will usher in the Yuletide season at the regular meeting of the Parents and Teachers Organization of School 5 in the school auditorium at 7:45 p. m., Thursday, Dec. 4.

The evening's program of music centering around the theme, The Child, the school and Music, will feature the All-School Glee Club, composed of pupils from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades under the direction of Mrs. Dorothea G. Flick, supervisor of music in the Kingston elementary grades. The choral group will present a varied program of semi-classical, folk and Yuletide songs. Medleys of favorite tunes will add to the general appeal.

The purpose of the evening will be a demonstration through music of the work accomplished in rhythm, appreciation and vocal music in the elementary grades during the fall season. Emphasizing this underlying aim, select groups of children from each of the primary grades within the school will also present songs representative of their area of interest.

A brief business session will precede the evening's program of music with Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, president, presiding. At the conclusion, refreshments will be served buffet style. All parents, teachers and interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

1,000 Music Lovers Hail Violinist at Community Concert

No less than 1,000 music lovers hailed Carroll Glenn, violinist, for a magnificent performance last night at the second in the series of winter concerts sponsored by the Community Concert Association in the high school auditorium. Eugene Helmer, pianist, was accompanist.

It would be difficult to state the most popular of the compositions played by the young and extremely gifted artist, because seldom have local audiences been known to respond with a fervor so great for an entire program including numerous encores. Her performance was indeed an inspiring one, full of vitality, sparkle, and exciting interpretation.

Following the concert, the local committee entertained Miss Glenn at a buffet supper in Judie's restaurant. Also in attendance were Eugene List, the artist's brilliant pianist husband, and the couple's two-year old daughter, Allison.

Last night's concert marked the opening of the two-weeks' annual conference of Community Concert Association at Fisher Hall, New York City. During the conference artists sponsored by the Association will present concerts for representatives who contact the local organizations throughout the country and arrange for the winter series of concerts. Members of local committees are invited to attend the conference and it is expected that some from this area will be present at some time during the conference.

Miss Glenn and Mr. List will appear at the Friday afternoon concert of the conference.

HENRY COWELL

The premiere of a new symphony by Henry Cowell, composer, of Shady and New York city, will take place at the sixth annual International Folk Festival at Wilmington, (Ohio) College, February 27 to March 1.

His Eighth Symphony, the composition is in four movements. Its playing time is 23 minutes and is scored for combined orchestra and chorus.

Mr. Cowell has notified Wilmington officials that the symphony would be dedicated to the college and the Society of Friends, which sponsors the institution. He said that although the work contained a universal folk-music quality, "it does not use any actual folk songs, but draws on types and styles of folk music from all over the world.

The local composer's works have frequently been heard at Woodstock music festivals. In May of this year, he conducted the United States Military Academy band and chorus in his own works written especially for the final winter Sesquicentennial Concert at West Point.

Michigan State Voted No.1 College Football Team in AP Poll

Mythical Title And O'Donnell Trophy to Spartans

Georgia Tech Second, Notre Dame Third

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Michigan State, the only four-platoon team in the land, today reigned as the No. 1 college football aggregation in the land.

Biggie Munn's devastating Spartans, with a 24-game winning streak behind them, captured first place in the final Associated Press poll of the season by a wide margin over Georgia Tech, the nation's only other major unbeaten team.

Michigan State begins operations in the Big Ten next year, and its foes can take some heart from Munn's comments on the team's 1953 prospects.

"We lose 19 key men," he said. "It is very doubtful whether we will be as good. You can't lose 19 key men and expect very much."

By being named No. 1 team in the country, Michigan State automatically won the O'Donnell Trophy, awarded each year to the team that takes No. 1 spot in the final poll.

Munn Is Thrilled

"This is the first such honor for Michigan State and I am thrilled," said Munn. "The honor really belongs to the players and assistant coaches on my staff. The Father O'Donnell Trophy is one we will cherish forever."

The trophy was donated by the Notre Dame Monogram Club in remembrance of the late Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, a former player and president of the university. Tennessee won it last year.

Michigan State garnered 2,683 points to 2,249 for Georgia Tech on the ballots of 271 of the nation's sports writers and sportcasters. They were tabulated on the usual system of 10 for first place, nine for second and so on. State corralled 207 first place votes to 36 for the Engineers.

Third place went to Notre Dame and fourth to Oklahoma. Southern California was fifth, UCLA sixth, Mississippi seventh, Tennessee eighth, Alabama ninth and Texas, tenth. The last three named did not receive any first place votes.

Justified Rating

Michigan State disappointed nobody with its fine showing. Munn's lads were picked as the potential top team in the pre-season Associated Press poll, and except for the second week, when Wisconsin ranked No. 1, they were on top. That gave them nine of ten firsts.

Munn never used fewer than 38 players in any game, and in two contests he cleaned his bench of all 61 players in uniform, a move which gave him also six platoons.

Still, he commented:

"We aren't the giants you may think. But we have height and speed at the right spots We have tall ends, a tall center, and four offensive guards who aren't big but can move. The offensive backs aren't big except Don McAuliffe at left halfback. You need a pretty big man there. The offensive team had the right people at the right positions. And we had a good defensive crew that held us up when the going was real tough."

Team standings of the first 10 with points:

1. Michigan State (9-0)....2,683
2. Georgia Tech (11-0)....2,249
3. Notre Dame (7-2-1).....1,809
4. Oklahoma (8-1-1) 1,685
5. Southern Cal (9-1) 1,404
6. UCLA (8-1) 983
7. Mississippi (8-0-2) 950
8. Tennessee (8-1-1) 781
9. Alabama (9-2) 693
10. Texas (8-2) 454

Second Ten: Wisconsin, 281; Tulsa, 145; Maryland, 87; Syracuse, 56; Florida, 55; Duke, 48; Ohio State, 46; Purdue, 45; Princeton, 44; Kentucky, 41.

Australian Tennis Lassies Little Sour On Little Mo for 'Snubbing' Them

Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 2 (AP)—Some of Australia's women tennis players are a little sour on Maureen Connolly, the 18-year-old United States champion, for not practicing with them. And they're a little envious, too.

They're also sore at Australia's Davis Cup squad, the members of whom have practiced with Little Mo from San Diego, Calif., and annoyed at Australian Davis Cup captain Harry Hopman, who has been giving her tips.

None of the Australian girls would allow herself to be quoted by name.

But one said:

"I wonder if our Davis Cup coach has ever considered spending a bit of time with some of our own girls."

Another commented:

"We know Little Mo is out of our class, but I thought she was here to improve our standard of tennis. We don't learn much by watching her beat her opponents quickly.

"But we might if we had an opportunity of practicing with her. Most of us have not even been introduced to her."

Maureen's Defense

Maureen defended her actions.

"We are down here to improve our tennis," she said. "We are prepared to wait until any hour to get to practice with the Davis Cup players. Local girls do not practice as much as we do. I went out to practice with one of the local girls and after a quarter-hour she said she was too tired to go on any more."

On the subject of Hopman's coaching, she said:

"He has helped all the players. Before we left the States we asked him to help us while we were here."

She said she has met almost all the Australian girls either at functions or on the courts.

Sixty-one Ski Centers Scheduled to Run In State This Season; Seven in Ulster

Sixty-one ski centers, including seven in Ulster county, will be open to the skiing public in New York state this winter, according to a guidebook issued by the state's Department of Commerce.

The Ulster areas certified by the Commerce Department are located at Belleavre Mountain, Highmount, Ellenville, Napanoch, Phoenicia, Rosendale and Cragsmoor.

The southern area of the state, with 29 centers, has taken the lead over the Adirondack section, a circumstance the Department attributes to the fact that the Catskills offer excellent terrain and New York city, greatest ski market in the country, is nearby.

The northern part of the state, which includes the Adirondacks, is second with 21 and the central and western area supplies an additional 11.

Six new centers have been added to the increasing facilities available to New York state skiiers. This season three centers will use snow machines for adding artificial cover to their slopes when natural snow is lacking.

Two machines were used successfully last year at Saranac Lake in the Adirondacks and at Kiamesha Lake in the Catskills. Snow-making equipment has also been installed at Grossingers and New York operators are watching with interest the growing trend toward use of artificially-made snow.

In the southern area of the state, other centers operating besides the Ulster group include Armonk, Bethpage Park, Hillsdale, Cooperstown, Deposit, Fahnestock Park, Grossinger's, Austerlitz, Sloansville, Kiamesha Lake, Monticello, Mt. Beacon, Mt. Peter, Norton Hill, Oyster Bay, Palisades Park, Downsville, Sharon Springs, East Berne, Cobleskill, Spencertown and Walton.

Northern centers that will operate this year are located at Gloversville, South Corinth, Batchellerville, Carthage, Potsdam, Saratoga Springs, Elizabethtown, Warrensburg, Lake Placid, North Creek, Old Forge, Paul Smiths, South Colton, Saranac Lake, Schroon Lake, Turin, Speculator, Troy, Watertown, Whiteface Mountain and Wevertown.

Booklet Is Free

The western centers are at Allegany Park, Binghamton, Canandaigua, Cortland, Syracuse, Ellicottville, Fairport, Glenwood, Rochester, Swain and Caroline.

The 32-page illustrated booklet, "Ski New York" is now being distributed to winter sports enthusiasts. It contains detailed descriptions of the facilities at ski centers in all parts of the state, including the dimensions of slopes and trails, types of lifts and tows, operating hours and transportation lines serving the area.

Free copies may be obtained by writing to the New York State Department of Commerce, 112 State street, Albany 7.

Dodgers Make Strong Bid for Warren Spahn

Furillo, Pafko Cox Mentioned In Package Deal

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers have prepared a pair of three-for-two package deals involving top flight players in an effort to obtain either Warren Spahn of the Boston Braves or Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phils, it was learned today.

Recognizing the need of a starting southpaw pitcher to go along with the aging Preacher Roe in defense of their National League championship, the Dodgers are quite willing to give up regular players for either of the pitchers, generally recognized as the best left handers in the circuit.

The Brooks, who sat by quietly yesterday as three of their better minor league farmhands were plucked in the annual major league draft that opened the annual convention, have these package deals to offer:

1. Outfielders Carl Furillo, Andy Pafko and third baseman Billy Cox, all regulars, to the Braves for Spahn and outfielder Sid Gordon or:

2. First baseman Gil Hodges, Furillo and Cox to the Phillies for Simmons and outfielder Del Ennis.

Want Spahn Badly

Spahn is the man the Dodgers covet the most despite his comparatively poor 14-19 won and lost record last season. The 30-year-old southpaw, a victim of weak hitting and a mediocre defense behind him, failed to notch 20 or more victories for the first time in four years in 1951.

Glowing reports on Don Hoak, a kid third baseman brought up from Montreal for the next season, make Cox dispensable. Experts such as Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League and Bruno Betzel, manager of the Syracuse Club of that loop, insist that Hoak can't miss making the big league.

Other trade rumors continued to fill the hotel lobbies at the convention, but none had reached the stage of naming names other than the Dodger proposals.

Little Draft Action

The only concrete news involving the transfer of players resulted from the annual major league draft that brought big time trials to 11 minor leaguers. With, Pittsburgh making three picks at a cost of $35,000, the big fellows spent $120,000 in the smallest selection since they drafted 10 players in 1945. Seven—clubs passed up the draft. The majors drew 18 players last year the minors' turn to draft players of lower classification began today.

Elroy Face, a slim right-hander, was plucked by Pittsburgh for $10,000 from Montreal, where the parent Dodgers had moved him after he had posted a 14-11 record with Fort Worth. The first draft choice the Pirates, only club to take more than one player, also drafted righthanders Bob Hall (14-11) from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League for $15,000 and John Hetki (13-7) from Toronto of the International for $10,000.

Penn-Notre Dame TV Bid Goes Unanswered

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—It appears the pleas of the Universities of Pennsylvania and Notre Dame for unrestricted television of football games in 1953 will go unanswered.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association's ten-man television committee closed a two-day meeting yesterday and indicated that it would favor continuation of the restricted program at the NCAA convention at Washington Jan. 8-10.

The group said it had made a thorough survey of results of the 1952 program and found "it worked satisfactorily."

Vic Seixas Joins Aussies in Finals

Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 2 (AP) — Vic Seixas of Philadelphia swept into the semi-finals of the Victorian Tennis Tournament today along with Australians Frank Sedgman, Ken McGregor and Mervyn Rose.

But Seixas' young Davis Cup teammate — Ham Richard — was blasted to the sidelines, a victim of Rose's tremendous play.

The lefthanded Aussie never gave the 19-year-old Baton Rouge, La., youngster a chance, winning 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, in 55 minutes.

Seixas, meanwhile, had no trouble whatsoever with Aussie Ken Rosewall, winning 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

Sedgman also won easily over countryman Ian Ayre, 10-8, 6-0, 6-2, but McGregor experienced a little difficulty before subduing Rex Hartwig of Australia, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Red Barber Speaks at KHS Dec. 11

The Kingston High School Athletic Association will have the signal distinction of hearing Walter S. "Red" Barber in a repeat speaking performance on Thursday, Dec. 11.

The Old Redhead, voice of the Brooklyn Dodgers and sports counselor for CBS, first appeared here two years ago when he thrilled more than 500 persons with a dramatic speech.

Coach G. Warren Kias today urged students, parents and high school fans to make early reservations for the dinner which is expected to jampack the KHS gym for the second time.

Free Meal Started Red

The promise of a free meal to a gentleman who loved to eat induced Red Barber to try radio, so the story goes.

Perhaps if Barber hadn't had to worry about where his next meal was coming from when he was a student at the University of Florida back in 1930, he might never have gotten into radio.

And if he hadn't been offered a free meal in return for doing a one-shot radio stint, the old redhead might not be CBS Counselor on Sports today.

But he was hungry and he was offered a free meal . . . so now.

Here's how it happened:

Barber was working his way through the University of Florida waiting on tables for his meals. The boarding house where he worked was closing for the Christmas vacation and Barber's chances were not too bright. So when he was asked to substitute for a professor on a farm hour program over Station WRUF, Gainesville, Fla., and the fee offered was a free meal, he accepted with alacrity.

The Bovine Bard

As a result of his reading of the script—an epic concerned with "Bovine Obstetrics"—he was offered a job as part-time student announcer. Thinking he could ward off the station director's offer, Barber asked for a salary of $50 a month. To his consternation he got the salary asked.

It sounds pretty bovine, if you get what we mean, but Barber swears the story is true.

Actually, Barber wanted the more sedentary career of a college professor. But once he got into radio he fell head over heels in love with it. During his four years with WRUF, where he subsequently became chief announcer, he hammered out something of a broadcasting technique.

"Whether it was good, bad or indifferent, I don't know," says Barber, "but it was my own. I would not listen to other announcers because I did not want to copy anybody . . ."

It was sound philosophy. Barber's achievements over the years are a splendid tribute to his own faith in himself.

Victory Costly For La Starza

Brooklyn, Dec. 2 (AP) — Roland La Starza today was looking moodily ahead to at least two months of inactivity because of a cut right eye and an injured hand.

La Starza won a unanimous 10-round decision over Fred (Rocky) Jones of Chester, Pa., last night, but it was an expensive one. Rollie's left eye required six stitches in a hospital and he had trouble with his right hand.

Jones opened a cut on the eye in the first round and although La Starza's trainers managed to keep it closed until the last round, the optic was in bad shape at the end.

La Starza said his right hand hurt through most of the later rounds of the battle.

Rams' Waterfield To Call it Quits

Los Angeles, Dec. 2 (AP)—Bob Waterfield, one of the National Professional League's all-time great quarterbacks, is retiring from the game at the close of this season with 31 team, league and championship playoff records to his credit.

The Los Angeles Rams' team captain, with eight years of service in the pro ranks, notified President Dan Reeves that he would not be available for the second year of his $18,000-a-year contract. He has private business interests, is under contract to Sam Katzman, Columbia Studio producer, and may do some coaching. He has appeared in several films and has been encouraged to further his career in that line by his actress wife, Jane Russell.

"Waterfield's loss would be a tremendous blow," said Ram coach J. Hampton Pool. "You know how the players feel about Bob; he's 'Mr. Ram' himself."

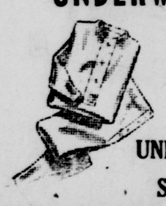

Waterfield has had moments of brilliance this year, but a leg injury has handicapped him and at 32 he admits he feels "pretty old and in need of a rest."

Michigan State Voted No.1 College Football Team in AP Poll

Mythical Title And O'Donnell Trophy to Spartans

Georgia Tech Second, Notre Dame Third

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Michigan State, the only four-platoon team in the land, today reigned as the No. 1 college football aggregation in the land.

Biggie Munn's devastating Spartans, with a 24-game winning streak behind them, captured first place in the final Associated Press poll of the season by a wide margin over Georgia Tech, the nation's only other major unbeaten team.

Michigan State begins operations in the Big Ten next year, and its foes can take some heart from Munn's comments on the team's 1953 prospects.

"We lose 19 key men," he said. "It is very doubtful whether we will be as good. You can't lose 19 key men and expect very much."

By being named No. 1 team in the country, Michigan State automatically won the O'Donnell Trophy, awarded each year to the team that takes No. 1 spot in the final poll.

Munn Is Thrilled

"This is the first such honor for Michigan State and I am thrilled," said Munn. "The honor really belongs to the players and assistant coaches on my staff. The Father O'Donnell Trophy is one we will cherish forever."

The trophy was donated by the Notre Dame Monogram Club in remembrance of the late Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, a former player and president of the university. Tennessee won it last year.

Michigan State garnered 2,683 points to 2,249 for Georgia Tech on the ballots of 271 of the nation's sports writers and sportcasters. They were tabulated on the usual system of 10 for first place, nine for second and so on. State corralled 207 first place votes to 36 for the Engineers.

Third place went to Notre Dame and fourth to Oklahoma. Southern California was fifth, UCLA sixth, Mississippi seventh, Tennessee eighth, Alabama ninth and Texas, tenth. The last three named did not receive any first place votes.

Justified Rating

Michigan State disappointed nobody with its fine showing. Munn's lads were picked as the potential top team in the pre-season Associated Press poll, and except for the second week, when Wisconsin ranked No. 1, they were on top. That gave them nine of ten firsts.

Munn never used fewer than 38 players in any game, and in two contests he cleaned his bench of all 61 players in uniform, a move which gave him also six platoons.

Still, he commented:

"We aren't the giants you may think. But we have height and speed at the right spots We have tall ends, a tall center, and four offensive guards who aren't big but can move. The offensive backs aren't big except Don McAuliffe at left halfback. You need a pretty big man there. The offensive team had the right people at the right positions. And we had a good defensive crew that held us up when the going was real tough."

Team standings of the first 10 with points:

1. Michigan State (9-0)....2,683
2. Georgia Tech (11-0)....2,249
3. Notre Dame (7-2-1).....1,809
4. Oklahoma (8-1-1) 1,685
5. Southern Cal (9-1) 1,404
6. UCLA (8-1) 983
7. Mississippi (8-0-2) 950
8. Tennessee (8-1-1) 781
9. Alabama (9-2) 693
10. Texas (8-2) 454

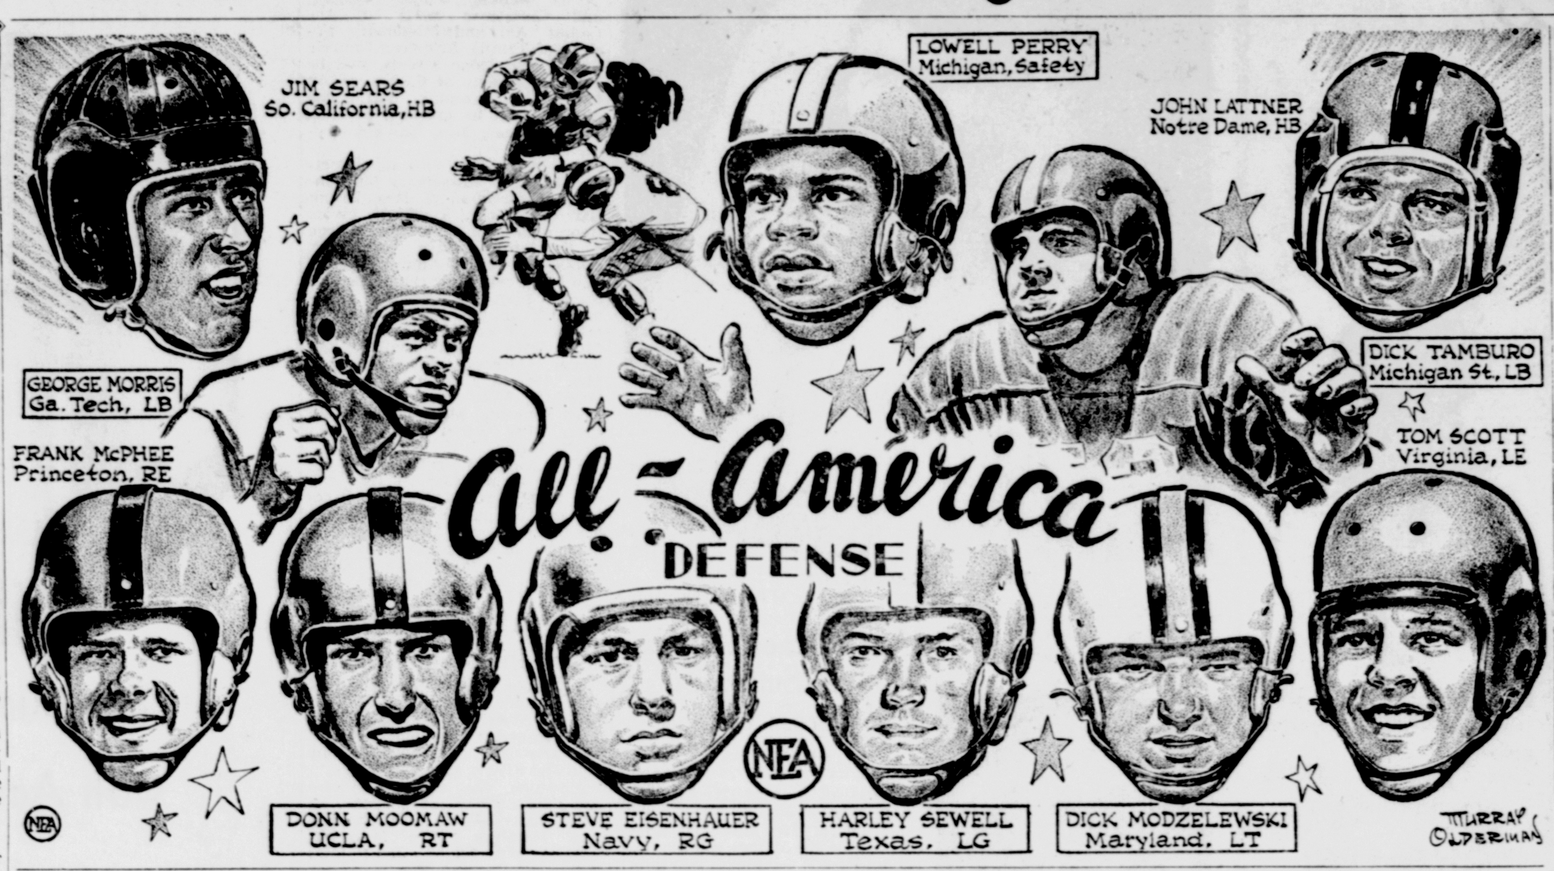

Second Ten: Wisconsin, 281; Tulsa, 145; Maryland, 87; Syracuse, 56; Florida, 55; Duke, 48; Ohio State, 46; Purdue, 45; Princeton, 44; Kentucky, 41.

Dodgers Make Strong Bid for Warren Spahn

Furillo, Pafko Cox Mentioned In Package Deal

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers have prepared a pair of three-for-two package deals involving top flight players in an effort to obtain either Warren Spahn of the Boston Braves or Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phils, it was learned today.

Recognizing the need of a starting southpaw pitcher to go along with the aging Preacher Roe in defense of their National League championship, the Dodgers are quite willing to give up regular players for either of the pitchers, generally recognized as the best left handers in the circuit.

The Brooks, who sat by quietly yesterday as three of their better minor league farmhands were plucked in the annual major league draft that opened the annual convention, have these package deals to offer:

1. Outfielders Carl Furillo, Andy Pafko and third baseman Billy Cox, all regulars, to the Braves for Spahn and outfielder Sid Gordon or:

2. First baseman Gil Hodges, Furillo and Cox to the Phillies for Simmons and outfielder Del Ennis.

Want Spahn Badly

Spahn is the man the Dodgers covet the most despite his comparatively poor 14-19 won and lost record last season. The 30-year-old southpaw, a victim of weak hitting and a mediocre defense behind him, failed to notch 20 or more victories for the first time in four years in 1951.

Glowing reports on Don Hoak, a kid third baseman brought up from Montreal for the next season, make Cox dispensable. Experts such as Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League and Bruno Betzel, manager of the Syracuse Club of that loop, insist that Hoak can't miss making the big league.

Other trade rumors continued to fill the hotel lobbies at the convention, but none had reached the stage of naming names other than the Dodger proposals.

Little Draft Action

The only concrete news involving the transfer of players resulted from the annual major league draft that brought big time trials to 11 minor leaguers. With, Pittsburgh making three picks at a cost of $35,000, the big fellows spent $120,000 in the smallest selection since they drafted 10 players in 1945. Seven clubs passed up the draft. The majors drew 18 players last year the minors' turn to draft players of lower classification began today.

Elroy Face, a slim right-hander, was plucked by Pittsburgh for $10,000 from Montreal, where the parent Dodgers had moved him after he had posted a 14-11 record with Fort Worth. The first draft choice the Pirates, only club to take more than one player, also drafted righthanders Bob Hall (14-11) from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League for $15,000 and John Hetki (13-7) from Toronto of the International for $10,000.

Penn-Notre Dame TV Bid Goes Unanswered

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—It appears the pleas of the Universities of Pennsylvania and Notre Dame for unrestricted television of football games in 1953 will go unanswered.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association's ten-man television committee closed a two-day meeting yesterday and indicated that it would favor continuation of the restricted program at the NCAA convention at Washington Jan. 8-10.

The group said it had made a thorough survey of results of the 1952 program and found "it worked satisfactorily."

Vic Seixas Joins Aussies in Finals

Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 2 (AP) — Vic Seixas of Philadelphia swept into the semi-finals of the Victorian Tennis Tournament today along with Australians Frank Sedgman, Ken McGregor and Mervyn Rose.

But Seixas' young Davis Cup teammate — Ham Richard — was blasted to the sidelines, a victim of Rose's tremendous play.

The lefthanded Aussie never gave the 19-year-old Baton Rouge, La., youngster a chance, winning 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, in 55 minutes.

Seixas, meanwhile, had no trouble whatsoever with Aussie Ken Rosewall, winning 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

Sedgman also won easily over countryman Ian Ayre, 10-8, 6-0, 6-2, but McGregor experienced a little dificulty before subduing Rex Hartwig of Australia, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Red Barber Speaks at KHS Dec. 11

The Kingston High School Athletic Association will have the signal distinction of hearing Walter S. "Red" Barber in a repeat speaking performance on Thursday, Dec. 11.

The Old Redhead, voice of the Brooklyn Dodgers and sports counselor for CBS, first appeared here two years ago when he thrilled more than 500 persons with a dramatic speech.

Coach G. Warren Kias today urged students, parents and high school fans to make early reservations for the dinner which is expected to jampack the KHS gym for the second time.

Free Meal Started Red

The promise of a free meal to a gentleman who loved to eat induced Red Barber to try radio, so the story goes.

Perhaps if Barber hadn't had to worry about where his next meal was coming from when he was a student at the University of Florida back in 1930, he might never have gotten into radio.

And if he hadn't been offered a free meal in return for doing a one-shot radio stint, the old redhead might not be CBS Counselor on Sports today.

But he was hungry and he was offered a free meal . . . so now.

Here's how it happened:

Barber was working his way through the University of Florida waiting on tables for his meals. The boarding house where he worked was closing for the Christmas vacation and Barber's chances were not too bright. So when he was asked to substitute for a professor on a farm hour program over Station WRUF, Gainesville, Fla., and the fee offered was a free meal, he accepted with alacrity.

The Bovine Bard

As a result of his reading of the script—an epic concerned with "Bovine Obstetrics"—he was offered a job as part-time student announcer. Thinking he could ward off the station director's offer, Barber asked for a salary of $50 a month. To his consternation he got the salary asked.

It sounds pretty bovine, if you get what we mean, but Barber swears the story is true.

Actually, Barber wanted the more sedentary career of a college professor. But once he got into radio he fell head over heels in love with it. During his four years with WRUF, where he subsequently became chief announcer, he hammered out something of a broadcasting technique.

"Whether it was good, bad or indifferent, I don't know," says Barber, "but it was my own. I would not listen to other announcers because I did not want to copy anybody . . ."

It was sound philosophy. Barber's achievements over the years are a splendid tribute to his own faith in himself.

Victory Costly For La Starza

Brooklyn, Dec. 2 (AP) — Roland La Starza today was looking moodily ahead to at least two months of inactivity because of a cut right eye and an injured hand.

La Starza won a unanimous 10-round decision over Fred (Rocky) Jones of Chester, Pa., last night, but it was an expensive one. Rollie's left eye required six stitches in a hospital and he had trouble with his right hand.

Jones opened a cut on the eye in the first round and although La Starza's trainers managed to keep it closed until the last round, the optic was in bad shape at the end.

La Starza said his right hand hurt through most of the later rounds of the battle.

Rams' Waterfield To Call it Quits

Los Angeles, Dec. 2 (AP)—Bob Waterfield, one of the National Professional League's all-time great quarterbacks, is retiring from the game at the close of this season with 31 team, league and championship playoff records to his credit.

The Los Angeles Rams' team captain, with eight years of service in the pro ranks, notified President Dan Reeves that he would not be available for the second year of his $18,000-a-year contract. He has private business interests, is under contract to Sam Katzman, Columbia Studio producer, and may do some coaching. He has appeared in several films and has been encouraged to further his career in that line by his actress wife, Jane Russell.

"Waterfield's loss would be a tremendous blow," said Ram coach J. Hampton Pool. "You know how the players feel about Bob; he's 'Mr. Ram' himself."

Waterfield has had moments of brilliance this year, but a leg injury has handicapped him and at 32 he admits he feels "pretty old and in need of a rest."

Newburgh Quintets Seek Local Games

Frank Vernol, the well known Newburgh basketball operator, is seeking games in this area for two leading independent teams—the 170th Field Artillery and the Perry All Stars.

The Perrys feature several former Newburgh Academy stars and ex-servicemen. Games can be booked by writing Frank Vernol, 158 West Parmenter street, Newburgh.

Australian Tennis Lassies Little Sour On Little Mo for 'Snubbing' Them

Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 2 (AP)—Some of Australia's women tennis players are a little sour on Maureen Connolly, the 18-year-old United States champion, for not practicing with them. And they're a little envious, too.

They're also sore at Australia's Davis Cup squad, the members of whom have practiced with Little Mo from San Diego, Calif., and annoyed at Australian Davis Cup captain Harry Hopman, who has been giving her tips.

None of the Australian girls would allow herself to be quoted by name.

But one said:

"I wonder if our Davis Cup coach has ever considered spending a bit of time with some of our own girls."

Another commented:

"We know Little Mo is out of our class, but I thought she was here to improve our standard of tennis. We don't learn much by watching her beat her opponents quickly.

"But we might if we had an opportunity of practicing with her. Most of us have not even been introduced to her."

Maureen's Defense

Maureen defended her actions.

"We are down here to improve our tennis," she said. "We are prepared to wait until any hour to get to practice with the Davis Cup players. Local girls do not practice as much as we do. I went out to practice with one of the local girls and after a quarter-hour she said she was too tired to go on any more."

On the subject of Hopman's coaching, she said:

"He has helped all the players. Before we left the States we asked him to help us while we were here."

She said she has met almost all the Australian girls either at functions or on the courts.

Sixty-one Ski Centers Scheduled to Run In State This Season; Seven in Ulster

Sixty-one ski centers, including seven in Ulster county, will be open to the skiing public in New York state this winter, according to a guidebook issued by the state's Department of Commerce.

The Ulster areas certified by the Commerce Department are located at Belleavre Mountain, Highmount, Ellenville, Napanoch, Phoenicia, Rosendale and Cragsmoor.

The southern area of the state, with 29 centers, has taken the lead over the Adirondack section, a circumstance the Department attributes to the fact that the Catskills offer excellent terrain and New York city, greatest ski market in the country, is nearby.

The northern part of the state, which includes the Adirondacks, is second with 21 and the central and western area supplies an additional 11.

Six new centers have been added to the increasing facilities available to New York state skiiers. This season three centers will use snow machines for adding artificial cover to their slopes when natural snow is lacking.

Two machines were used successfully last year at Saranac Lake in the Adirondacks and at Kiamesha Lake in the Catskills. Snow-making equipment has also been installed at Grossingers and New York operators are watching with interest the growing trend toward use of artificially-made snow.

In the southern area of the state, other centers operating besides the Ulster group include Armonk, Bethpage Park, Hillsdale, Cooperstown, Deposit, Fahnestock Park, Grossinger's, Austerlitz, Sloansville, Kiamesha Lake, Monticello, Mt. Beacon, Mt. Peter, Norton Hill, Oyster Bay, Palisades Park, Downsville, Sharon Springs, East Berne, Cobleskill, Spencertown and Walton.

Northern centers that will operate this year are located at Gloversville, South Corinth, Batchellerville, Carthage, Potsdam, Saratoga Springs, Elizabethtown, Warrensburg, Lake Placid, North Creek, Old Forge, Paul Smiths, South Colton, Saranac Lake, Schroon Lake, Turin, Speculator, Troy, Watertown, Whiteface Mountain and Wevertown.

Booklet Is Free

The western centers are at Allegany Park, Binghamton, Canandaigua, Cortland, Syracuse, Ellicottville, Fairport, Glenwood, Rochester, Swain and Caroline.

The 32-page illustrated booklet, "Ski New York" is now being distributed to winter sports enthusiasts. It contains detailed descriptions of the facilities at ski centers in all parts of the state, including the dimensions of slopes and trails, types of lifts and tows, operating hours and transportation lines serving the area.

Free copies may be obtained by writing to the New York State Department of Commerce, 112 State street, Albany 7.

Red Sox Officials Think Jim Piersall Ready to Play Again

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP)—Jimmy Piersall, the Boston Red Sox rookie who suffered a nervous breakdown last summer, will be fighting for a regular outfield job with the club in 1953.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager, said today that the fiery Waterbury, Conn., youngster is in "wonderful shape."

"The boy is at Sarasota (the Sox's Florida training base) and is feeling fine," said Cronin. His wife and two children are down there with him. He's playing golf every day.

Jimmy weighs about 195 pounds, several pounds over his weight last season.

He'll be in a position to make a bid for a regular job."

Cronin revealed that the youngster will remain at Sarasota until the club reports for spring training. He is on the Red Sox roster, having been recalled from Birmingham where he was sent on option in June.

Informed of Cronin's optimistic report on Piersall, manager Lou Boudreau said, "If Jim is in as good shape as reported, there's no question who will be our regular right fielder. We have nobody who can beat out a sound Piersall for the job.

"I'm sure there isn't a better defensive right fielder in the league, none faster, none with a better arm, none with more hustle. How well he can hit still is a question but his other talents make up for that."

Piersall was shipped to the Red Sox farm club in Birmingham last season after a series of incidents that included clowning on the field, challenging teammates and a ball field scrap with the New York Yankees' Billy Martin.

After a short stay in the minors, physicians prescribed a good rest as the tonic he needed to recover from a nervous breakdown.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. FIANO

Last look at 1952 Football: A hectic West Point football career wound up in brilliant triumph and personal vindication for Big Ed Weaver. Before 102,000 fans in cavernous Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia and a nationwide TV and radio audience of 65,000,000 persons, the former KHS athletic great closed out the books with his finest performance. He was the real West Point Story of the year.

Big Ed made Kingston proud with his dynamic tackling, alertness, pass interceptions and all round play. He was the difference between an Army loss and an Army rout. Threatening, dominant, but always contained by Army's superb defense headed by Weaver, Navy looked three touchdowns better than the Black Knights of the Hudson. But the final count was a meagre 7-0.

Weaver pounced on two Navy fumbles, intercepted a pass on Army's 3 near the end of the final quarter and made a series of bone-jarring tackles.

It was a climactic comeback for the pre-cribbing era offensive star. Shunted to the defensive, having to fight off weight and scholastic difficulties, Big Ed stuck to his guns to the finish. It wasn't bitter, it was magnificent. He got beautiful treatment from the press; one splendid TV closeup near the Army bench when he was sent back into the game after resting a minute. On the very next play, he intercepted a Navy pass on the Army 3. Newspaper photos caught him in action in several of the tense moments of the game.

Mel Allen made a point of mentioning "Kingston, N. Y." several times. We had seen Mel at the Newburgh Little League dinner last Tuesday. At the time we expressed the hope that Allen might have the opportunity to say some nice things about "our boy" from Kingston. Weaver gave Allen a tailor made script on that score.

His triumphant football finale behind him, Big Ed now turns to basketball and is expected to be one of the top players on a rising Cadet quintet. But Weaver showed Saturday, at least, that in this day of high pressure scoring in football, the "unsung heroes" of the line cannot always be overlooked. He showed, too, that he is a player of whom Kingston High and the City of Kingston can be proud.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

All-DUSO selections due in near future, with NFA and Poughkeepsie likely to dominate the first team. "Breaks" held Poughkeepsie to third place in the DUSO when it might easily have won the pennant. The Blues and Maroons will be the powers next season and a titanic duel is scheduled in the Bridge City. It seems silly to hold off the DUSO League finale until Thanksgiving Day. Many Maroon followers grumbling about the 19-day layoff the red hot Maroons had to suffer between the Port Jervis and Newburgh games. If schedule problems make it difficult to prevent such layoffs, then we're in favor of scrapping the Thanksgiving Day game and moving the schedule to an earlier closing date. If the Turkey Day game is retained, and there is only a remote possibility that it won't, we think it should be played at 10 a. m. The attendance wouldn't suffer and fans could get a shot at the turkey several hours earlier. Charles Bobby Johnson of Poughkeepsie High was the best freshman back of the 1952 season. DUSO schools could help boost spectator interest by rebuilding broken down scoreboards and having competent personnel handling public address systems that can be heard the length of the stadium. In at least three of the pressboxes of the circuit there is no guarantee a working press man will find a seat. Kingston has the best all-round facilities in the DUSO and guarantees the visiting sports writer a seat every time. Our last ballot for the AP football poll rated the teams in this order, among the first five: Michigan State, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Georgia Tech and Southern California.

Red Sox Officials Think Jim Piersall Ready to Play Again

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP)—Jimmy Piersall, the Boston Red Sox rookie who suffered a nervous breakdown last summer, will be fighting for a regular outfield job with the club in 1953.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager, said today that the fiery Waterbury, Conn., youngster is in "wonderful shape."

"The boy is at Sarasota (the Sox's Florida training base) and is feeling fine," said Cronin. His wife and two children are down there with him. He's playing golf every day.

Jimmy weighs about 195 pounds, several pounds over his weight last season.

He'll be in a position to make a bid for a regular job."

Cronin revealed that the youngster will remain at Sarasota until the club reports for spring training. He is on the Red Sox roster, having been recalled from Birmingham where he was sent on option in June.

Informed of Cronin's optimistic report on Piersall, manager Lou Boudreau said, "If Jim is in as good shape as reported, there's no question who will be our regular right fielder. We have nobody who can beat out a sound Piersall for the job.

"I'm sure there isn't a better defensive right fielder in the league, none faster, none with a better arm, none with more hustle. How well he can hit still is a question but his other talents make up for that."

Piersall was shipped to the Red Sox farm club in Birmingham last season after a series of incidents that included clowning on the field, challenging teammates and a ball field scrap with the New York Yankees' Billy Martin.

After a short stay in the minors, physicians prescribed a good rest as the tonic he needed to recover from a nervous breakdown.

Last look at 1952 Football: A hectic West Point football career wound up in brilliant triumph and personal vindication for Big Ed Weaver. Before 102,000 fans in cavernous Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia and a nationwide TV and radio audience of 65,000,000 persons, the former KHS athletic great closed out the books with his finest performance. He was the real West Point Story of the year.

Big Ed made Kingston proud with his dynamic tackling, alertness, pass interceptions and all round play. He was the difference between an Army loss and an Army rout. Threatening, dominant, but always contained by Army's superb defense headed by Weaver, Navy looked three touchdowns better than the Black Knights of the Hudson. But the final count was a meagre 7-0.

Weaver pounced on two Navy fumbles, intercepted a pass on Army's 3 near the end of the final quarter and made a series of bone-jarring tackles.

It was a climactic comeback for the pre-cribbing era offensive star. Shunted to the defensive, having to fight off weight and scholastic difficulties, Big Ed stuck to his guns to the finish. It wasn't bitter, it was magnificent. He got beautiful treatment from the press; one splendid TV closeup near the Army bench when he was sent back into the game after resting a minute. On the very next play, he intercepted a Navy pass on the Army 3. Newspaper photos caught him in action in several of the tense moments of the game.

Mel Allen made a point of mentioning "Kingston, N. Y." several times. We had seen Mel at the Newburgh Little League dinner last Tuesday. At the time we expressed the hope that Allen might have the opportunity to say some nice things about "our boy" from Kingston. Weaver gave Allen a tailor made script on that score.

His triumphant football finale behind him, Big Ed now turns to basketball and is expected to be one of the top players on a rising Cadet quintet. But Weaver showed Saturday, at least, that in this day of high pressure scoring in football, the "unsung heroes" of the line cannot always be overlooked. He showed, too, that he is a player of whom Kingston High and the City of Kingston can be proud.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

All-DUSO selections due in near future, with NFA and Poughkeepsie likely to dominate the first team. "Breaks" held Poughkeepsie to third place in the DUSO when it might easily have won the pennant. The Blues and Maroons will be the powers next season and a titanic duel is scheduled in the Bridge City. It seems silly to hold off the DUSO League finale until Thanksgiving Day. Many Maroon followers grumbling about the 19-day layoff the red hot Maroons had to suffer between the Port Jervis and Newburgh games. If schedule problems make it difficult to prevent such layoffs, then we're in favor of scrapping the Thanksgiving Day game and moving the schedule to an earlier closing date. If the Turkey Day game is retained, and there is only a remote possibility that it won't, we think it should be played at 10 a. m. The attendance wouldn't suffer and fans could get a shot at the turkey several hours earlier. Charles Bobby Johnson of Poughkeepsie High was the best freshman back of the 1952 season. DUSO schools could help boost spectator interest by rebuilding broken down scoreboards and having competent personnel handling public address systems that can be heard the length of the stadium. In at least three of the pressboxes of the circuit there is no guarantee a working press man will find a seat. Kingston has the best all-round facilities in the DUSO and guarantees the visiting sports writer a seat every time. Our last ballot for the AP football poll rated the teams in this order, among the first five: Michigan State, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Georgia Tech and Southern California.

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Every so often the stock market (or the commodity market) becomes front-page news. As such it wields considerable influence upon people's minds and feelings.

Since the election, after an initial misleading start, the stock market has soared into new high ground since mid-1930. Accompanied by greatly increased activity of trading, and doubtless by renewed participation on the part of the public, stock prices have shown the first actual desire to run loose in over a year.

One might become enthusiastic and say that Wall Street has taken to heart the thought of "a free market" as a result of the Eisenhower landslide.

Whether or not the idea of free-running speculation is being discounted somewhat too freely is a question which will be answered, no doubt, after the turn of the year.

For the moment, however, there does not appear to be anything in the wind to discourage stocks from celebrating their release from the philosophy of restricted finance and the growth of state-socialism.

From a contrary-opinion standpoint, it is noteworthy that the public remains "doubtful" about the post-election bull market. According to odd-lot transactions, which measure the "little fellow's" trading and investment sentiment rather accurately, there has been a tendency toward selling rather than buying in the past week or two. Odd-lot transactions are somewhat difficult to interpret, because normally there is more buying than selling on the part of the public. What has to be measured, to get a reflection of the public's market psychology, is the degree, or proportion, of buying and selling, plus the activity in short-selling in odd-lots. (Probably every reader understands that odd-lot transactions refer to those of less than 100 shares, and as these trades are handled by "odd-lot brokers" they are reported daily. In this way, the odd-lot transactions are separated from the ordinary "round-lot"—that is, 100-share, and larger—business which appears on the ticker tape and is reported in the "volume" figures in your newspaper.)

What has been in evidence, therefore, in recent trading is the failure of the public to become enthusiastic about the rise. This restraint, as reflected in odd-lot figures of buying and selling orders, suggests that a "contrary" analysis would not yet point to the end of the Eisenhower market.

There are other technical signs, which market analysts employ in gauging the market's strength, that also remind us of an old Wall Street adage: "Follow the trend; don't buck it; cut your losses and let your profits run."

Stock market sentiment can change swiftly, as everyone knows. So, as the weeks pass—especially after the turn of the year and as inauguration day draws near—it will be important again to gauge public psychology to see if market optimism is being overdone. If the public changes its current "composite-mind" and jumps into the market in reckless fashion then a contrary-opinion approach will obviously indicate caution and conservatism. In the meantime, if there are fireworks among the cheap stocks ("the cats and dogs," as they say in Wall Street) this will be another sign that "the public is coming in."

Now a word about commoditeis.

It should be borne in mind that there is not necessarily any correlation between commodity prices and stock prices. The outstanding reference to recall is the period of the 1920's. While commodity prices were either standing still or declining, the stock market registered its run-away boom that drew in the boot-blacks and the parlor-maids.

Only last week the wholesale price index dropped again into a new low "since Korea," while the stock market rose into new high levels since 1930.

A continued fall in commodity prices will affect profits, naturally, because inventories will shrink in dollar-value. However, this is commonly disregarded during a market boom which is based upon hopes, cheers, and changed sentiment. I think it is apparent that the current stock-market rise is sparked wholly by sentiment, because the outlook for increased earnings, inflation, and further expansion, is, if anything, less a probable expectancy under a Republican Administration and Congress than under the regimes we have had for the past 20 years.

There may be more "freedom" to make profits in the years ahead; but even this is doubtful, when you consider the problems overhanging the economy.

In sum, we're in a bull market which will require thoughtful observation as it develops.

Gunfire from artillery and a UN patrol cut down an estimated 10 Chinese soldiers and wounded 25 more in a brief, sharp clash last night near Jackson Heights on the central front.

Reds Hit Outpost

On the isolated east coast sector, nearly 100 Red troops hit an allied outpost near Anchor Hill south of Kosong shortly before midnight. The Reds retreated after trading shots for 30 minutes.

Communist artillery and mortar fire again dropped off. The Reds fired only 6,216 shells into allied lines in the 24 hour period ending at 6 o'clock last night.

The count of Red artillery shells, as released by the U. S. Eighth Army, is compiled from reports received from allied divisions along the front.

The Eighth Army briefing officers also disclosed a drop in Communist casualties. He said UN ground troops killed, wounded or captured 2,231 Red soldiers in the fourth week of November. This is the lowest figure in three months. It reflects the drop in fighting since the bloody battle for Sniper Ridge and Triangle Hill settled into a relative lull.

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Every so often the stock market (or the commodity market) becomes front-page news. As such it wields considerable influence upon people's minds and feelings.

Since the election, after an initial misleading start, the stock market has soared into new high ground since mid-1930. Accompanied by greatly increased activity of trading, and doubtless by renewed participation on the part of the public, stock prices have shown the first actual desire to run loose in over a year.

One might become enthusiastic and say that Wall Street has taken to heart the thought of "a free market" as a result of the Eisenhower landslide.

Whether or not the idea of free-running speculation is being discounted somewhat too freely is a question which will be answered, no doubt, after the turn of the year.

For the moment, however, there does not appear to be anything in the wind to discourage stocks from celebrating their release from the philosophy of restricted finance and the growth of state-socialism.

From a contrary-opinion standpoint, it is noteworthy that the public remains "doubtful" about the post-election bull market. According to odd-lot transactions, which measure the "little fellow's" trading and investment sentiment rather accurately, there has been a tendency toward selling rather than buying in the past week or two. Odd-lot transactions are somewhat difficult to interpret, because normally there is more buying than selling on the part of the public. What has to be measured, to get a reflection of the public's market psychology, is the degree, or proportion, of buying and selling, plus the activity in short-selling in odd-lots. (Probably every reader understands that odd-lot transactions refer to those of less than 100 shares, and as these trades are handled by "odd-lot brokers" they are reported daily. In this way, the odd-lot transactions are separated from the ordinary "round-lot"—that is, 100-share, and larger—business which appears on the ticker tape and is reported in the "volume" figures in your newspaper.)

What has been in evidence, therefore, in recent trading is the failure of the public to become enthusiastic about the rise. This restraint, as reflected in odd-lot figures of buying and selling orders, suggests that a "contrary" analysis would not yet point to the end of the Eisenhower market.

There are other technical signs, which market analysts employ in gauging the market's strength, that also remind us of an old Wall Street adage: "Follow the trend; don't buck it; cut your losses and let your profits run."

Stock market sentiment can change swiftly, as everyone knows. So, as the weeks pass—especially after the turn of the year and as inauguration day draws near—it will be important again to gauge public psychology to see if market optimism is being overdone. If the public changes its current "composite-mind" and jumps into the market in reckless fashion then a contrary-opinion approach will obviously indicate caution and conservatism. In the meantime, if there are fireworks among the cheap stocks ("the cats and dogs," as they say in Wall Street) this will be another sign that "the public is coming in."

Now a word about commoditeis.

It should be borne in mind that there is not necessarily any correlation between commodity prices and stock prices. The outstanding reference to recall is the period of the 1920's. While commodity prices were either standing still or declining, the stock market registered its run-away boom that drew in the boot-blacks and the parlormaids.

Only last week the wholesale price index dropped again into a new low "since Korea," while the stock market rose into new high levels since 1930.

A continued fall in commodity prices will affect profits, naturally, because inventories will shrink in dollar-value. However, this is commonly disregarded during a market boom which is based upon hopes, cheers, and changed sentiment. I think it is apparent that the current stock-market rise is sparked wholly by sentiment, because the outlook for increased earnings, inflation, and further expansion, is, if anything, less a probable expectancy under a Republican Administration and Congress than under the regimes we have had for the past 20 years.

There may be more "freedom" to make profits in the years ahead; but even this is doubtful, when you consider the problems overhanging the economy.

In sum, we're in a bull market which will require thoughtful observation as it develops.

Bad Weather Hits Wide Sections of U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

Wet weather—snow, rain and sleet—hit wide areas of the country today, but there was no severe cold. Driving conditions were reported hazardous in many parts of the precipitation belt.

The midwest got most of the snow, with a fresh fall of from one to four inches from eastern sections of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri eastward through Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan into Ohio and Kentucky.

Rain fell south of lower Ohio river valley south and southwestward along the Mississippi river into Louisiana. Sleet and rain pelted sections of northern Missouri and central Iowa.

Heavy rain continued in the Pacific coast states eastward through Nevada and into Idaho. Falls of one to two inches were general along the middle Pacific coast. Some freezing rain was reported in eastern parts of Oregon.

The season's worst rain, snow and wind storm hit northern California yesterday, causing two deaths and heavy damage. Heavy snow fell in mountain areas, with 17 inches at Donner Summit.

Fog was reported early today in parts of the middle Mississippi valley, with visibility in some areas cut to one-eighth of a mile.

Fair weather was reported in most of the eastern and southeastern sections.

Durkin Sees . . .

off AFL and CIO appointees with equal government rank.

AFL officials here were elated at Eisenhower's choice; CIO was yet to be heard from

Advice From Meany

Durkin told reporters that AFL President George Meany had advised Eisenhower, before the selection was made: "If you pick a good man from CIO, he will get the support of the AFL. If you pick a good man from AFL, I'm sure he will bet the support from the CIO.

Meany, commenting on the appointment in New York, described Durkin as an "outstanding trade unionist" and added:

"He is ideally fitted by training, experience, ability and temperament for his post. Mr. Durkin's appointment will inspire confidence among the ranks of organized labor in the express desire and determination of President-elect Eisenhower to be fair to the nation's workers."

Watkins Is Confident

Sen. Watkins (R.-Utah) said he was confident that Eisenhower's faith in Durkin "will not be misplaced" and said he would vote to confirm him.

Secretary of Labor Tobin, whom Durkin will succeed, offered his congratulations and pledged full cooperation.

"President-elect Eisenhower has selected an able man," Tobin said.

Durkin, president of the Plumbers Union for nine years, seemed to be voicing considerably more than a personal hope in telling reporters:

"I believe there will be placed in the Labor Department some functions now handled by other government agencies."

He indicated that he considers mediation of labor disputes "a labor function." This may foreshadow an effort to restore the Federal Mediation Service to the Labor Department.

Responsibilities Stripped

Mediation and several other duties were stripped from labor following passage of the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947. The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has functioned independently since. Labor leaders complained that the Labor Department was reduced to a mere "record-keeping agency."

Durkin made no secret of his view that the department should do more than provide statistics. A secretary of labor, he said, should not interfere in cases which are being mediated, but he added:

"I believe the secretary of labor, if he has a knowledge of labor problems, can give assistance without taking sides."

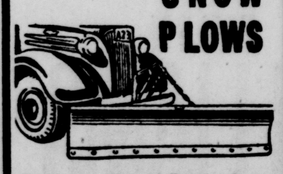

Chicago-born, Durkin was director of labor in Illinois for eight years under both Democratic and Republican state administrations. He is married and the father of three children.

In Chevy Chase, Md., the Washington suburb where he now lives, Durkin is a regularly registered Democrat.

He told newsmen, rather thoughtfully: "I may find it necessary to change that."

Directors Will Meet

The regular quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held Wednesday evening, December 3, at 7:45 p. m. at the Chapter house.

Stevenson's candidacy at the AFL convention."

He said he was happy to serve under a Republican President and added:

"I wish to assure the general that I will play on the team and give all the assistance I can in making his administration a successful one."

Durkin said he believes the Taft-Hartley Act can be "amended to the satisfaction of labor."

"I have no doubt, also, that it can be amended to satisfy management as well," he said.

He said he anticipated that the Department of Labor will be rebuilt and enlarged with functions transferred from other agencies.

Weeks Is 'Honored'

In Boston, Weeks said he was "honored" by his designation to Eisenhower's cabinet, "particularly in the Commerce Department where such experience as I have had in business may perhaps enable me to help make the new administration the success it is bound to be."

"The welfare of our people—and their welfare is all that is at stake—depends in very large measure on the condition of our business and industrial structure," he added.

"There is a job to be done and I shall do it to the best of my ability."

Williams, in Fullerton, Calif., said: "It is a matter of real satisfaction to be part of the Eisenhower team. I am looking forward to an opportunity to serve, and hope to make the department a body which will be of constructive service."

Is Seattle Banker

Williams, 58, is head of a Seattle mortgage-banking and property-management firm. In 1948 he was named to his first national post, that of national chairman of the Committee for Economic Development.

In 1950 he lost in a U. S. Senate campaign against Sen. Warren Magnuson.

He became an Eisenhower backer while the President-to-be was still overseas. Early in the campaign he was named head of the Citizens Committee for Eisenhower, although it cost him his chairmanship of the Washington State Republican Party to do it.

Weeks and Humphrey are listed as callers at the Eisenhower residence today.

Yesterday's roster included: John Foster Dulles; Winthrop W. Aldrich, Eisenhower's ambassador to Britain; Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts, who will head the American delegation to the United Nations; Harold E. Stassen, who is to head the Mutual Security Agency; and Gen. Lucius D. Clay, new board chairman of the Continental Can Co.

Deer Smashes Three Rooms of Furniture

Huntingdon, Pa., Dec. 2 (AP)—A 200-pound, eight-point deer crashed through a picture window yesterday into the home of Dr. and Mrs. William Todd. It demolished three rooms of furniture before it was killed.

After smashing living room furniture, the deer descended to the basement laundry where the washer, dryer and ironer were battered and upset. Then the deer turned his attention to the basement playroom.

After spiking a few pieces of furniture and overturning some more, the animal slid on the wax slick floor and went down. Mrs. Todd telephoned a game protector who shot the deer and gave the meat to the county home.

Local Labor Is

dustry of the United States and Canada, has been well known to Kingston labor representatives for 10 years.

Visited by Local Groups

Although he had not been in this area himself, he was contacted and visited by local groups on at least two occasions.

The first was when local shipyard workers were being organized, when Durkin proved to be "friendly and helpful," Yerry said. The second contact came when two shipyard locals were being consolidated, at which time he conducted hearings in Washington, atended by committees from both locals. Both sides in that matter agreed his decisions were fair, Yerry pointed out.

Durkin has a reputation as a "conservative" labor leader, and has always kept his office open to those wishing to see him, it was pointed out.

"On behalf of the Metal Trades Council and other unions I represent," Yerry stated, "I can say we are very pleased with the appointment."

Bad Weather Hits Wide Sections of U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

Wet weather—snow, rain and sleet—hit wide areas of the country today, but there was no severe cold. Driving conditions were reported hazardous in many parts of the precipitation belt.

Rain fell south of lower Ohio river valley south and southwestward along the Mississippi river into Louisiana. Sleet and rain pelted sections of northern Missouri and central Iowa.

Heavy rain continued in the Pacific coast states eastward through Nevada and into Idaho. Falls of one to two inches were general along the middle Pacific coast. Some freezing rain was reported in eastern parts of Oregon.

Local Labor Is

dustry of the United States and Canada, has been well known to Kingston labor representatives for 10 years.

Visited by Local Groups

Although he had not been in this area himself, he was contacted and visited by local groups on at least two occasions.

The first was when local shipyard workers were being organized, when Durkin proved to be "friendly and helpful," Yerry said. The second contact came when two shipyard locals were being consolidated, at which time he conducted hearings in Washington, atended by committees from both locals. Both sides in that matter agreed his decisions were fair, Yerry pointed out.

Durkin has a reputation as a "conservative" labor leader, and has always kept his office open to those wishing to see him, it was pointed out.

"On behalf of the Metal Trades Council and other unions I represent," Yerry stated, "I can say we are very pleased with the appointment."

Most toothpaste tubes are now made of aluminum although they were formerly made of lead and tin.
